Fire Alarm System Abandonment Being Protested

HUNDREDS SIGN PETITIONS TO RETAIN BOXES

Large Delegation Expected To Jam Council Chambers At Meeting

Petitions carrying more than 1,000 signatures protesting abandonment of Circleville's fire alarm system will be presented to the city council which is scheduled to meet at 8 p. m. Tuesday.

The presentation will be made in the presence of a large number of signers who have indicated their intention of attending the council session to back up their demands that the council rescind its order for the removal of the 24 alarm boxes and the wiring.

Heavy-caliber oral blasts are expected to be fired at the council members who voted for discarding the alarm system and Tuesday night's session promises to be a hectic affair. Citizens who are protesting the abandonment will likely jam the council chamber on the second floor of city hall.

PETITIONS have been in circulation for several days and it was learned that the petitions have gained signers in all sections of the city.

Lewis "Tate" McClarren, operator of a market at South Pickaway and Walnut streets, reported that more than 800 south side residents had signed petitions in his store. Other petitions were reportedly being signed in the north end of the city and also on the east side.

Councilman Boyd L. Horn was the lone member of council who opposed the idea of discarding the fire alarm system and who voted against the order.

The petitions circulated through the city protest council's action at its May 20 meeting in ordering the removal of the alarm boxes and in directing Safety Director Thurman I. A delegation of members of the Chamber of Commerce will be on hand to back up that organization's request that the city provide free installation of water and sewer lines in a veterans' home on South Court street at the south edge of Circleville.

THE CHAMBER of Commerce delegation will renew that organization's request, which was voiced at the May 20 meeting by Mack D. Parrett, representing the Chamber, and on which council took no action after a majority of the councilmen indicated the city would not grant free installation of the water and sewer facilities.

Parrett explained to the council that the Chamber of Commerce acquired 21 lots and that the sale of the lots has been restricted to war veterans.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan

Our colleges are turning out so many graduates this year you can smell sheep in any employment office.

But the American library association reports a serious shortage of publicly owned volumes. What this country seems to need is a good free book.

June brings graduation time around the world. Governments in Hungary and Nicaragua have received their decrees and Abd-El-Krim is back from Reunion island.

But June now is official — bathers are going in and coal miners are thinking of coming out.

Lewis bargained separately with northern and southern operators. Probably he is the only man who could walk out on the North without the South giggling a little.

THE TWISTED wreckage of a Piper Cub lies in the woods near Red Bank, N. J., after it collided in mid-air with a Navy transport and plunged to the ground. Allan Coles, 26, of Middletown, N. J., a flight instructor, and his pupil, Willard F. Ivins, 32, of Rumson, N. J., were both killed. The Navy plane continued on its flight and landed safely.

House and Senate Split On Date of Adjournment

COLUMBUS, O., June 3—House and senate leaders split completely today on the final adjournment date of the Ohio legislature.

House Majority Leader Paul McCracken (R-Akron) insisted the house could—and would—finish its working sessions this Friday, despite the failure of the additions and betterments bill to come out of the finance committee as expected.

Senate Majority Leader Frank Whittemore (R-Akron) on the other hand, was equally positive in his statement that "we can't possibly finish this Friday."

"We don't think we'll even have the ($85 million dollar) general appropriations bill out of committee by Friday," Whittemore stated. "Then

GARSSON SAYS MAY REFUSED PAY FOR WORK

WASHINGTON, June 3—Munitions-maker Henry Garsson testified today that he tried to pay Andrew J. May for wartime services May performed for the Garssons munitions combine, but that the ex-congressman refused.

Garsson, a defense witness in the conspiracy trial of himself, his brother Murray and May, was referring to May's operation of the Garsson-finance Cumberland Lumber company in Prestonsburg, Ky.

He testified that May handled the company only because he felt a "moral obligation" to do so, since he was the one who induced the Garssons to go into the lumber business.

Garsson said that May never received for himself one cent of the thousands of dollars the Garssons poured into the company.

STATE PROBING DEATH OF THREE SHOW HORSES

PORTSMOUTH, O., June 3—A representative of the state veterinary medicine department began a probe today of the mysterious death of three show horses at the Scioto county fairgrounds.

The horses, valued at $30,000, belonged to Dr. O. Burt, Londonderry, who asked for an investigation following death of the animals yesterday.

The horses were stabled at the fair grounds to train for Summer horse shows. Six other horses appeared in good condition.

PILOT ACCUSED

WASHINGTON, June 3—James M. Landis, chairman of the civil aeronautics board, told congress today that the pilot of a United Air Lines plane which crashed at La Guardia field, New York, killing 42, ignored a control tower suggestion that he use a different runway.

Ambassador To United States Recalled As Communists Start New Purge

WASHINGTON, June 3—Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., today harshly denounced the Communist coup in Hungary and said America should call for "a trial in the forum of the United Nations" if the facts justify such action.

The senate foreign relations chairman told the senate that despite the Communist move in Hungary the pending treaty with that country should be ratified.

Vandenberg made his statement in opening debate on the Italian and Balkan peace treaties.

Vandenberg called attention to "definite indications of Moscow's influence in Hungarian affairs." He said the Yalta and Potsdam agreements had been "contemptuously blotted" and left as "scraps of dishonor."

He cited the arrest of the secretary general in Hungary, "police assaults" and an "armed conspiracy" climaxed in the removal of the Hungarian premier, Ferenc Nagy, and his succession by János Dinnyes.

Vandenberg held that "America cannot deal with Hungary as she deals with Greece" because she is an ex-enemy state. He said:

"They are parallel tragedies but they cannot have parallel treatment."

BRITISH PLAN FOR GRADUAL INDIAN CHANGE

LONDON, June 3—The British labor government abandoned hope for a unified India today and announced a plan for gradual partitioning on a modified dominion status basis which former Prime Minister Churchill immediately approved in principle.

Prime Minister Attlee and Indian Viceroy Viscount Mountbatten simultaneously announced the complex details of the plan, which also was sanctioned by Hindu, Moslem and Sikh leaders.

Immediately after Attlee had read his historic statement in a dry perfunctory manner to the house of commons, Churchill, as leader of the opposition, said the conservatives would not oppose partitioning. Attlee reiterated Britain's determination to withdraw entirely from India by June, 1948.

BONDS IN LIQUOR CASES DECLARED FORFEITED

COLUMBUS, O., June 3—The $1,000 bonds of the 93 private club license holders whose liquor permits have been revoked as the result of an investigation were declared forfeited today by Attorney General Hugh S. Jenkins.

Jenkins declared it was the first time since the liquor department was established in 1933 that bonds had actually been ordered forfeited.

The permits were among the flood of licenses issued in the closing days of the Lausche administration. Jenkins' probe, instituted at the request of Gov. Herbert, is continuing. The attorney general stated that "continuing activity . . . in this matter promises to result in the revocation of more of the D-4 permits concerned."

West Point Graduates Told Security Possible With Strength Of Arms

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 3—Gen. Dwight E. Eisenhower told the United States military academy graduating class today that "war is mankind's most tragic and stupid folly."

The Army chief of staff, who three years ago was ready to launch history's greatest military operation, the invasion of France, warned that security for the nation can never be achieved "unless all other peoples feel equally safe."

Eisenhower declared that relative security, only, is possible through strength of arms.

HE CALLED upon American soldiers to be leaders for world cooperation, knowing that to serve best the security of their country they must "work for the cause of peace."

BYRNES TALKS LOAN TO ITALY WITH PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, June 3—James F. Byrnes, former secretary of state, today discussed a proposed 100 million dollar loan to Italy with President Truman.

Following the conference Byrnes said he is interested in the plight of the Italian people. He said the President told him that an investigating group from the export-import bank is scheduled to return to this country shortly from Italy after making a study of conditions in Italy.

Byrnes quoted the President as saying that the proposed loan, which is viewed favorably by this government, will be decided upon when the export-import bank report is made.

BYRNES GETS FILM JOB

HOLLYWOOD, June 3—Film Czar Eric Johnston today announced appointment of former secretary of state James F. Byrnes as counsel to Johnston. Johnston said Byrnes' first task would be to develop a set of fair trade practices "to protect the freedom of the American screen."

Pickaway County Schools To Get $306,435 Under New Bill; City $112,478

Circleville and Pickaway county schools would receive $112,478 in state aid under provisions of the Daniels-Cramer bill as it was passed by the house last week.

H. E. Louis, Pickaway representative to the Ohio general assembly, Tuesday submitted a table showing the amount received under present laws and the amount to be distributed if the present bill stands as it was passed by the house.

However, he pointed out, there is a possibility of even more funds becoming available. The senate passed the bill with the provision for more funds than the house and a conference between members of the two bodies may agree on a compromise figure.

Under provisions of the present bill 75 percent of the state funds will be earmarked for teachers' salaries. The proposed $2,000 minimum salary is not included in the bill. Mr. Louis pointed out several arguments against a minimum salary. He said in some districts it would be necessary to cut the maximum to bring up the minimum, because of lack of funds.

IN THE FOLLOWING table Mr. Louis has listed each school district, elementary enrollment, high school enrollment, proposed state aid, present state aid, number of elementary teacher and number of high school teachers:

Ashville, with 250 elementary pupils, 77 high school pupils, nine elementary teachers and five high school teachers, will receive $25,266. The district has been getting $15,786. Increase is $9,480.

Darby township, 168 elementary, 57 high school, 5 elementary teachers, 4 high school teachers, $24,789, has been getting $17,632, increase $7,157.

Deercreek township, 187 elementary, 46 high, 4 elementary

BOY SURVIVES MILE TRIP IN FLOODING DITCH

DAYTON, June 3—Gunter Boccia, three-year-old son of a German scientist employed at nearby Patterson field, was little the worse for wear today despite being swept a mile down a rain-swollen drainage ditch.

Little Gunter fell off a bridge into the swirling waters and his playmates ran and informed his mother, Mrs. Edith Boccia.

Mrs. Boccia, who once was a life guard in Germany, ran into the ditch, jumped into the waters fully clothed and swam downstream until she found the child.

"I thought he was dead when I pulled him out," she said. "He looked like he didn't have any life."

However, artificial respiration brought the boy to consciousness and he was taken to the Patterson field hospital where his condition was described as good.

Patterson field officials said the boy was washed through several tunnels and under several bridges.

HEARINGS ON WAR TRAINING PLANNED SOON

WASHINGTON, June 3—Rep. Andrews (R) N. Y., announced today that the house armed services committee will open hearings on compulsory universal military training "in a week or ten days."

Andrews, committee chairman made the announcement after the house group received a telegram from scientist Karl Compton declaring that "the situation is too serious to justify delay."

SCIOTO MAY HIT NEW HIGH; LOW LAND COVERED

10 Inch Boost In Two Hours Spreads Water Over Two Highways

Lowlands along the Scioto river near Circleville were inundated at noon Tuesday and the steadily rising waters of the Scioto and its tributaries gave warning of possible serious damage to crops, livestock, and other property. Some roads in the area were under water.

The flood stage of 14 feet was reached at 8 a. m. Tuesday and by 10 o'clock the level was 14 feet 10 inches, a rise of 10 inches in two hours.

CHARLES CARTER, Circleville weather observer for Uncle Sam, reported that the Scioto at Circleville rose 8.95 feet during the 24-hour period ended at 8 a. m. Tuesday. He warned that the stream might continue to rise steadily for at least another 24 hours. Carter said the rainfall in the Circleville area measured .44 inch Sunday night and until Monday morning, with an addition .81 of an inch since 8 a. m. Monday, or a total of 1.25 inches since Sunday night. The average June precipitation is 3.12 inches, thus the rainfall during the first two days this month amounts to one-third of the normal total for June.

The rainfall in May totaled 4.84 inches, Carter said. Added to April's precipitation of 7.54 inches, the total for the two months is 12.38 inches.

Pickaway county farmers, harassed for several weeks by excessive rainfall and fields so soggy that plowing and planting were impossible, Tuesday were menaced by the worst danger of all—a serious flood.

BY MID-MORNING Tuesday flood waters had inundated a section of State Route 316 at Mackey Ford, and the waters also had spread over State Route 104 at Dewey Park. Although the (Continued on Page Two)

CONGRESS SENDS TAX CUT BILL TO PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, June 3—Senate GOP leaders planned to send their four billion dollar tax reduction bill to the White House today as Democrats and Republicans speculated on a presidential veto.

Administration lieutenants, awaiting completion of congressional action on the bill, confidently forecast that President Truman will reject the measure.

One Democratic official close to the White House said that if the senate voted today on the 10½ to 30 percent tax slash, Mr. Truman's veto message may be expected back in the lap of congress by Thursday. The President leaves Friday for Kansas City where he will spend the weekend. He leaves Washington again on June 9 for a visit to Canada.

House ways and means Chairman Knutson (R) Minn., said, however, that he is convinced that Mr. Truman will let the tax relief measure become law.

ARGENTINA CLEANS UP

WASHINGTON, June 3—President Truman today received assurance from ambassador Oscar Ivanissevich that Argentina has purged itself of Nazis and Hitlerite influence in conformance with inter-American conference agreements.

WASHINGTON, June 3—Southern coal producers and United Mine Workers representatives held a two-hour negotiating session today without any signs of progress toward a new wage agreement for the nation's soft coal fields.

COLUMBUS, O., June 3—A bill to require the state to pay its employees time and a half for all hours over 40 in one week was killed today by the house committee on organization of state government.

SCIOTO MAY HIT NEW HIGH; LOW LAND COVERED

Scioto and smaller streams in the Circleville area have been on the rampage several times this Spring it was feared Tuesday that the worst conditions may lie just ahead.

Making no mention of more rain in the immediate future the official weather prediction said Tuesday afternoon and night would be cloudy and continued cool, with Wednesday cloudy and warmer.

Farm experts painted a gloomy picture of the agricultural outlook over Ohio, with considerable damage, personal hardships, and more woe to the hard-pressed Ohio farmers in the wake of the latest torrential rains.

Some farm spokesmen declared that the plight of many farmers has just about reached the "calamity stage," although a few sunny and rainless days might put swollen streams and rivers back within their banks, and might halt the threat of more serious inundations.

EVEN MORE serious than crop losses, some experts asserted, is the heavy amount of soil erosion, particularly in central and southern Ohio where the soil is over-saturated and is being washed into streams.

Several landslides in the Cincinnati area today underscored the erosion threat. The great Miami river also was out of its banks in several places in the Queen City area and a few roads were blocked by high water.

The Mahoning river rolled out of its banks at Niles today, flooding a section of the Pennsylvania railroad's Cleveland - Pittsburgh line to a depth of 15 inches. Passenger trains were being rerouted through Youngstown and Niles passengers were being hauled by taxicabs.

The Blanchard river, rising at the rate of two inches hourly, was posing a threat to sections of Hancock county.

WATER WAS receding from the Mill creek area in Cleveland's suburban Garfield Heights area where a trailer camp was inundated by the flooding Mill creek. Firemen carried 30 occupants of the camp to emergency quarters provided by the Red Cross.

The basements of homes were flooded over a wide area, including Chagrin Falls, suburban Cleveland Heights, Bellevue, Tiffin and Springfield.

Breaks in the Miami river levee resulted in the flooding of a section of Harrison township, near Dayton. Thirty families were vacated by boats as their homes were surrounded by from six to eight feet of water.

The state department of highways reported many roads blocked by water, principally in Miami, Logan, Shelby and Drake counties.

DIVORCE SUIT FILED

Claiming her husband struck her in the face with his fist and on another occasion broke a yardstick on her body, Mrs. Carol E. Wilson, West High street, a bride of less than five months, filed suit for divorce in Pickaway county common pleas court, Monday, accusing Raymond J. Wilson of extreme cruelty.

Mrs. Wilson's petition says they were married Jan. 25, 1947 in Circleville. She also asks for alimony and to be restored to her maiden name, Carol E. Guthrie. Judge William D. Radcliff issued a temporary injunction restraining Mr. Wilson from molesting her during the pendency of the suit.

Eisenhower declared that the high resolve of the nation's founders to promote peace, tranquility and prosperity is a guide for relations with other peoples as well as a domestic beacon.

amendment, but will go over until Wednesday before the senate acts.

Concurrence is only the remotest possibility, with the senate differences. Another major measure, the 300 million dollar soldier bonus proposal, also is snarled in a conference committee.

Conferences are expected to develop also on the appropriations bill, the A. B. bill, and the local government program. Only the sundry claims measure, among the six pieces of "must" legislation, seems likely to get through without a deadlock.

THE SENATE last night unanimously passed and sent to the house bills to permit the state to accept as a gift from the federal government Fletcher General hospital at Cambridge, valued at $2,104,000, and the Scioto ordnance works at Marion, valued at $748,000. The installations must be used as welfare institutions.

The senate also got into a snarl over concurrence in house amendments to the Sheppard omnibus elections bill, but finally concurred, 24-9. The bill also raises the pay of elections workers.

Szegedy-Maszk, a career diplomat, has not been active in any Hungarian political faction. However, since his arrival in Washington he has exhibited great friendship for the United States.

DIPLOMATIC observers here were inclined to believe the purge reports since the Hungarian government under ex-premier Ferenc Nagy usually sent to the western democratic powers "friendly" envoys.

Orders for the minister's recall were received in Washington among the first batch of instructions from the Communist-sympathizing Budapest government.

NEW TOURIST RECORDS MADE AT WASHINGTON

Mr. And Mrs. Taxpayer Check On Government Work In Increasing Numbers

WASHINGTON, June 3 — Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer and all the little exemptions are hanging up a new tourist record for the nation's capital by appraising their investment in the government at first hand.

A spokesman for the capital board of trade revealed today that records for the first six months of 1939—until now the peak year for capital visitors—have been broken.

The White House, probably the number one tourist attraction, pulled in an average of 5,000 visitors a day—or 2,500 an hour—during the Easter holiday season.

Otherwise the daily average hovers between 2,500 and 3,000 tourists a day with an increase in that figure expected during the Summer.

DURING the month of April about 25,000 citizens took the FBI tour in the justice department building and learned the reasons why crime doesn't pay.

The average day finds about 2,000 people investigating their stake in the FBI. This total also is expected to be surpassed during the vacation months.

While there is no accurate estimate of the number of people who mill around capitol hill and give their senators and representatives the once-over from the galleries, the figure is believed by harried guards to be impressive.

THE ALL-TIME 1941 record for the number of tourists whisked to the top of the Washington monument apparently is a cinch to be shattered in 1947.

About 965,000 people came to see the monument in 1941. Last year the slender white shaft drew about 865,000 tourists and this year the figure is expected to zoom to a million or more.

The Lincoln memorial also had a record year in 1941 when about 1,700,000 tourists trudged up its marble steps to the cool quiet within. About one million people came to see it in 1946 and about 1,200,000 are expected in 1947.

THE MONTH of May found the capital up to its eyebrows in conventions. The board of trade says it was the biggest convention month Washington has ever known.

Romance has been flourishing in odd places among the Spring and early-Summer tourists.

Honeymoon couples have been displaying a preference for the historic exhibits on display at the Smithsonian institute.

Officials explain that there is definitely romance in history—whether it happens to be centuries old or brand-new and dewy-eyed.

Then and Now

Ted Lewis

GRADUATE of the old-time vaudeville circuits Band Leader Ted Lewis still wears his battered high-hat trademark and still is asking musically "Is Everybody Happy?" Ted has been a part of show business for 35 years. When he was 14 he was barnstorming the country with circuses, burlesque and medicine shows. At 19 he was part of a trio, working the same bill as Will Rogers at the old Hammerstein theater in New York. He was fired after the theater manager saw a rehearsal, but years later returned to the same theater with his band at $7,500 a week from the same manager. By 1918 Ted Lewis had organized a five-piece ensemble that specialized in "smooth syncopation." And just about this time Ted acquired his famous "hat with a silver lining." It belonged to a cab driver who refused to sell it, but who finally lost it to Ted in a dice roll. Lewis insists he has worn same hat at every show since.

SEEK FIRE CAUSE

CLEVELAND, June 3 — Suburban East Cleveland firemen today probed ruins of a two-story brick building following fire of undetermined origin which caused damage estimated at $17,500.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Residents of Circleville, Ohio

It is about time something is said and done about the upper "click" that are controlling the interests and direction of our city of Circleville. The "high-handed" method that they employ, benefits only a minority of the people of Circleville—it is up to us to change this.

In a recent action by the city council they have abandoned the fire-alarm system, that is in need of numerous repairs. The fire-alarm system is the "backbone" of any city fire department, and of great necessity to the residents of this city who do not have access to a telephone. The time lost in locating a telephone to report a fire, probably, would mean the loss of your home or property. No doubt the insurance rates will increase as soon as this action is known. This "click" can spend enormous sums of money, up to nearly a million dollars, but cannot spend a meager amount for fire protection. Over $400,000 was spent for the purchase of the Ohio Water Company, when we already had an adequate water system. Many thousands of dollars were spent for the boulevard lights, which were not necessary.

When the Ohio Water Company was purchased, we were filled with promises of cheaper rates in the course of time. It seems that these promises have been forgotten.

Action for a charge of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) for tapping into the city water main and fifteen dollars ($15.00) for a water meter has been started. The Ohio Water Company never made this charge to its customers.

I wonder if the parties that are perpetrating these acts realize what they are doing, especially to the returning veterans that are building homes.

The Circleville Fire Department has accomplished an excellent job in the past, but they will be under a severe handicap

if the fire-alarm system is abandoned.

This is not a general complaint about the money spent. It is to point out that if they can spend such amounts, it seems they could spend enough to bring the fire alarm system into good operational order.

CONTENDERS FOR MAJOR LEAGUE LEADS COLLIDE

Reds Put On Hitting Clothes To Defeat Clint Hartung And Giants, 9-3

NEW YORK, June 3—Today's baseball schedule presents a pair of naturals as the two current leading contenders in each major league are clashing head-on.

The National League headliner, the start of a four-game series in New York tonight between the Giants and the Chicago Cubs, is especially crucial with the two clubs tied for first place.

In the American League the pace-setting Tigers will tackle Yankees, who are going strong now that Joe DiMaggio is tearing the cover off the ball. Detroit, with a three-game lead, sent Dizzy Trout against Spud Chandler in today's opener.

TWO PITCHERS won their own games in yesterday's abbreviated program. Howie Pollet, stylish southpaw of the St. Louis Cardinals, beat Brooklyn, 5 to 4, by knocking in the winning run with a single, his second of the day, in the tenth inning.

Dave (Boo) Ferriss, 1946 ace of the Boston Red Sox, batted in three runs in beating the Chicago White Sox, 6 to 2, in the first game of a twin bill.

The White Sox employed football methods to take the nightcap, 6 to 5. Dave Philley of the Pale Hose, sliding into second base on a force play, threw a fast block at Don Gutteridge of the Red Sox and sent him sprawling, enabling two Chicago runners to cross the plate.

ANOTHER PITCHER, Clint Hartung of the Giants, tried to win his own game with a homer, but the Cincinnati Reds had their hitting clothes on and tagged the Hondo hurricane, 9 to 3, for the "phenom's" first setback in five major league starts.

Pittsburgh clambered back into the thick of the pennant scramble in the senior circuit by staggering to the wire with a 4 to 3 win over the Boston Braves.

In the only other game played, a night contest at St. Louis, the Philadelphia Athletics beat the Browns to 3.

BIVINS WINNER BALTIMORE, Md., June 3—Jimmy Bivins, Cleveland, was the possessor of a second round knockout over Omelio Argamanti, Cuba, today. Bivins, who weighed 182½, belted Argamanti out in a scheduled ten rounder at Baltimore last night. The Cuban weighed 181.

TO NAME LEADER COLUMBUS, O., June 3—Ohio State University's football team will meet tomorrow to select a captain for 1947. Captain-elect Tommy James decided to pass up his final year to play with the National League Detroit Lions.

SOFTBALL GAME TO BE PLAYED HERE TONIGHT

Blue Ribbon and Esmeralda are scheduled to play a Night Softball league tonight in Ted Lewis park.

Rain Monday left the diamond too wet for the Williamsport-Isaly's game, but water had run off enough Tuesday morning to permit play tonight.

President Ed Amey, who announced tonight's game, said doubleheaders will be played as soon as the weather settles to permit "catching up" on the delayed schedule.

BLUES PLAN TO EXTEND LEAD PLAYING BIRDS

By International News Service Kansas City's Blues, still leading the American association by two and a half games, turned to the seventh place Columbus Red Birds for opposition today.

A scheduled three-game showdown between the Blues and their closest rivals, the Toledo Mud Hens, became a total loss yesterday when rain washed out a double header for the second straight day.

The Blues are slated to play four games in Columbus today, tomorrow and Thursday.

Toledo lost a half game and had its second place advantage trimmed to .005 in the percentage column as Louisville blanked Minneapolis, 4 to 0, on three-hit pitching by Wes Bailey.

St. Paul and Indianapolis split a double header, the Saints winning a seven-inning opener, 4 to 1, but dropping the nightcap, 6 to 3. Bob Malloy of the Indians chalked up his fourth straight win in the after-piece, but the Tribe's Glen Fletcher had a four-game string broken.

Milwaukee and Columbus were idle because of wet grounds.

PLANS FOR OLYMPICS PHILADELPHIA, June 3—Philadelphia began laying the groundwork today for a campaign to become the site for the 1952 Olympics. Arthur W. Binns, president of the city's convention and visitors bureau, said a committee will discuss the prospects in New York today with Avery Brundage, president of the U. S. Olympic association and the American representative on the event's international governing body.

CHAMP HORSE SOME PLAYERS MAY BE MADE CAN TAKE PART AT ARLINGTON IN CUBA LEAGUE

CHICAGO, June 3—It will be up to Chicago's Arlington park, known as the graveyard of champions, to make a champion before it breaks him on the three-year-old front this Summer.

Jet Pilot, Faultless, Phalanx and On Trust are the big four in a debate which will end on the rich, deep loam at Arlington when they go in the $100,000 classic July 26.

Then again, the argument may last beyond the classic and run over to the American derby late in August at Washington park. Or it may last forever.

You can't predict much about Washington Park, happy home of the long shot (Eternal Reward, at 103 to 1, won the American derby there last year). You can predict even less about what's liable to happen at Arlington, where such noted steeds as Whirlaway, Armed and Assault, all of them odds-on favorites, came home in the caboose.

REDS BANG OUT 12 HITS IN WIN OVER GIANT NINE

PHILADELPHIA, June 3—The Cincinnati Reds shifted their attentions to Philadelphia today, bringing with them a certification as full-fledged Giant killers. The Reds humbled the New York Giants, 9 to 3, yesterday. Thereby, they achieved the feat of dropping Mel Ott's club into a first place tie with Chicago in the National League.

The defeat also went into the books as the first for Clint Hartung, the sensational Giant rookie, who had won four games.

Hartung was tagged for three runs in the eighth and four in the ninth by the battling Reds. The big blows in the 12 hits he gave up were home runs by Eddie Lukon and Eddie Miller. It was the 11th circuit clout of the season for the amazing Miller, who drove in four runs.

Big Clint personally hit a homerun for the Giants, but venerable Bucky Walters displayed his stout pitching heart as he weathered an 11-hit storm.

Recruit Eddie Erautt was named by Manager Johnny Neun for today's mound duty. The veteran Schoolboy Rowe was to oppose him.

SPITTLE BUG ATTACKS MANY KINDS OF CROPS

Most Damage May Result To
Strawberries And Celery,
Best Explains

During the last few days residents have been noticing foamy-like masses of material on meadows and pasture plants and, in some instances on certain vegetables and flower plants.

Larry Best, Pickaway county agriculture agent, said Tuesday. This is the work of the spittle bug.

The two crops these bugs damage most is strawberries and celery, if present in large enough numbers. There is no evidence to indicate that much damage will be done to the pasture and meadow plants.

It is possible that the wet cool weather is responsible for the abundance of this insect.

SPITTLE BUGS can be controlled on strawberries and celery by thoroughly dusting the plants, when the air is still, with 0.75 per cent rotenone dust. Strawberry growers should examine their plants and if these insects are numerous, apply the dust before serious damage occurs, Mr. Best said.

Flowers should also be dusted with the rotenone dust where these insects appear on them.

DISTRIBUTION OF COUNTY SCHOOL FUNDS IS MADE

Distribution of $52,194.10 to Pickaway county's 16 rural schools was announced Tuesday by George C. McDowell, superintendent of county schools, who said the money represented the second quarterly settlement in 1947 and was received from the Ohio Department of Education.

The schools sharing the cash with the amount received by each are as follows:

Ashville, $3,444.79; Darby township, $4,572.67; Deercreek township, $3,776.39; Harrison township, $1,485.95; Jackson township, $3,519.75; Madison township, $1,386.37; Monroe township, $3,852.21; Muhlenberg township, $650.95; New Holland, $3,636.08; Perry township, $2,702.81; Pickaway township, $2,313.23; Saltcreek township, $4,208.73; Scioto township, $5,536.29; Walnut township, $6,020.73; Washington township, $3,494.71; and Wayne township, $1,592.42.

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPH

Home-Grown Eggplant Needs Encouragement

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Distributed by Central Press Association

SINCE eggplant is really a tropical vegetable, it should not be planted out in the garden until warm, sunny weather is assured. Even then it should be planted in the warmest spot in the garden for eggplant is a long season, tender plant.

To keep the young plants developing rapidly, they may need encouragement. A small handful of complete fertilizer should be placed in a circle around each plant after it has been set out, as illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph. Cultivate the fertilizer into the soil lightly. Repeat the application if growth appears slow. Plants about six inches in height are usually set out. It will help if the plants are given a thorough soaking in water the night before moving them. Black Beauty is recommended as the earliest eggplant. The fruits when mature are almost six inches in diameter, as illustrated, and are ready to pick 10 days to two weeks ahead of other varieties. They are dark purple in color and of fine quality.

Eggplants can be stored for a considerable period of time in a cool, moist cellar, therefore, a few extra plants should be set out for this purpose at planting time. When the fruits are cut for storage several inches of the stem should be left attached to each fruit.

Handle eggplants as though they actually were eggs, for the fruit is tender and bruises easily.

INCOME TAXES

SENATE passage of the income tax reduction bill was the result of argument that there would be an $8,500,000,000 surplus in the United States Treasury; that if $3,200,000,000 could be applied to the reduction in income taxes as the framers of the bill plan, there would still be a $5,000,000,000 balance for contingencies and for application to the public debt. In other words, reduction of both tax and debt could be achieved.

It is important that taxes be reduced if it can be accomplished and a healthy federal economy still be maintained. Not only would such a step be a definite ease of burden on all income groups, but it would have a good psychological effect.

It is an inescapable fact that incentive to effort is being dulled. Why should a man work to his utmost power if the resultant increase in income is syphoned off by his government? Especially when he feels sure too much of it is being used for causes with which he has little sympathy? He wants his Uncle Sam, for instance, to feed hungry people overseas who cannot feed themselves. But he wants to be sure his Uncle Sam is extending the strong hand of a friend who is helping his neighbor get on his feet, and not merely being done in as a sucker. He resents working hard to be taxed too high for the latter possibility.

Under the present tax structure situations are not uncommon wherein a man has more take-home pay left if he keeps his income down than if he strives to add to it. There is also abroad in the land a growing feeling that government can cut expenses and still render adequate service. If tax cuts will revitalize the productive urge among all classes of Americans, the Treasury can actually benefit from a judicious tax reduction at this time.

GOOD THINGS CAN BE NICE

"IT IS A popular belief," says the new book by Adelle Davis, "Let's Cook It Right," "that anything which builds health tastes like witches' brew and looks like baby spinach." This may be a survival of the old idea, attributed often to the Puritans, that anything pleasant has an element of wrong in it. Thus people look askance at modern schools which try to make pupils like their work, instead of forcing it down their throats. And we have all known persons who felt particularly virtuous when they had put themselves to inconvenience. Somebody should attack all these notions as erroneous, and sometimes even pernicious.

It is time to start building homes in earnest, and lots of them.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, June 3—The inside explanation of major events from Washington lately may be found today in the place you would least expect it—the CIO News, a magazine hard to get, dated May 5.

You may pursue it with me. The leading article tells of a thousand union members visiting the capitol "to the disgust of a lot of congressmen seeking to knife the people's interests," and continues:

"They talked with representatives and senators, left petitions and scrolls and headed home determined to spread the word that now is the time to prepare for the '48 elections, x x x Said Luther Slinkhard, UAW-CIO official in St. Louis who spoke for a group of 32 Missouri unionists; your visit with Missouri congressmen showed a shocking lack of recognition of the seriousness of the Hartley bill." (Note to those who do not have time to read much news: the Hartley bill was largely discarded by the house and senate conferees last week.)

"The congressmen, with the exception of Reps. Cannon and Kartsten, are either un-informed or badly informed x x x.

From Ohio came 150 CIO'ers x x x 50 of them crowding into a committee room for an interview with Senator Taft x x x were told by the senate GOP leader that labor was exaggerating the seriousness of the bill and that he has no objection to industry-wide bargaining x x x. The Ohio senator had gone to great lengths to keep that view out of the public eye. x x x Conclusions of Lavelle and the Ohio group: "We found many congressmen who voted for the Hartley bill and didn't know what they were voting for. x x x Indiana sent two groups of CIO Hoosiers to make life difficult for Senators Capehart and Jenner and for many GOP members of the state's delegations." x x x

The article continues to tell of delegations visiting senators and congressmen from their home districts, South Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, New York, New Jersey, the New England states, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Kentucky and West Virginia, with similar tactics.

The article is headed: "Mr. Labor Comes to Washington." The final line says with innuendo: "and judging from what the delegates promised they'd report to the people back home (that?) a lot of congressmen must be having a bad case of red ears."

Now let us go over that again from the beginning. This sort of thing has been continuing since the beginning of consideration of the labor bills and before. In that time there have been no similar tactics by the public at large, interested solely in the public welfare.

No delegations for them before congress in such a way or any other. Their weekly magazines, news services, etc. were not similarly active. In short, the people whose interests are thus reported to have been "knifed" did not even appear. The CIO justified either by its limited members or people's interests, an assumption hardly plainly is assuming it solely represents the instance of this, the CIO editors carry this attempt in its own selfish interest. For a headline on page 5: "CIO wage gains soar. Pay hikes for half a million." They do not report that the wages of the other 134,500,000 people soar although these 134,500,000 people are also in the CIO.

The Baby Born a Cretin

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

SPEED regulator of all the body's activities is the thyroid gland. Located in the neck, this gland secretes the substance which not only determines growth, but also sets the basic pace for all vital processes.

Now and then a child is born with a lack or not enough of this secretion. Such children grow very slowly both physically and mentally and are known as cretins. At first the baby may appear to be normal but a doctor's experienced eye will note that its tongue is unusually large and that it nurses feebly. These are often the first signs that cretinism is present. Later, of course, it will be apparent in the failure to grow properly.

But here is good news. If this condition is properly treated, or if the thyroid gland begins to form enough of its secretion, all of the evidence of the previous deficiency may disappear except, perhaps, the child may be under normal height and may be slightly backward mentally.

During the proper treatment with thyroid extract, the growth of the bones may go on rapidly enough so that the child may reach normal height for his age. Few cretins, however, attain normal intelligence, but the earlier treatment for the condition is begun, the better will be the outcome.

Giving Thyroid Extract

As I have mentioned, the treatment is the giving of thyroid extract. Of course the dosage must be carefully regulated by the physician.

If there is some doubt as to whether or not the child's difficulty is due to deficiency, thyroid extract may be given to see if it is producing any benefits. But we must not forget that if too much thyroid extract is given, the child becomes irritable and nervous.

Primary Objective

The primary objective in the treatment is to bring back the normal growth rate. A good way to check on the treatment is to determine the amount of a substance known as cholesterol in the blood. If enough thyroid extract is used, and then is stopped, the amount of cholesterol in the blood rises to too high a level.

According to Dr. Lewis M. Hurst and Dr. Natalie Musulin of Boston, Mass., if the child is receiving thyroid, it may be a good plan to stop it from time to time and then to determine if the amount of cholesterol in the blood increases. If this happens, the thyroid extract should be started again and continued.

Of course, in the case of cretins, careful handling of the patient by the physician is necessary.

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE

DIANE WENT in the afternoon to a beauty parlor—not to the neighborhood one she had been patronizing since she married but, on a sudden impulse, to Antoine's more exclusive "Salon des Femmes." Antoine, himself, greeted her effusively. Bernice, who had always taken care of her, who had come to the house on Oak Avenue on the evening of the wedding to arrange her hair under the lace cap of her veil, left another patron and rushed up to serve her. "It is quite all right that you made no appointment, Mrs. Arden," asserted Antoine and Bernice in the same voice.

"I want everything," said Diane. Bernice's expert fingers on her scalp and skin were soothing. Bernice's voice, cooling over her. "Lovely! Lovely, I always think, when I do your hair, Mrs. Arden. It's as soft as a child's."

Through the mirror Diane considered her hair, in golden curls, now. "Call Antoine before you set the wave," she said. When Bernice summoned him, Antoine came, bowing, smiling, to the booth. "Antoine, I'm tired of the way I've been wearing my hair. Can't you think of something different?"

"My lady would change her personality?" murmured Antoine, shaking his head, pulling down his lips. "That would be most sad!"

"That is exactly what I want to do!"

"There is a new vogue—but it suggests sophistication, Mrs. Arden, the superficial! And you are not that type! You are a—natural, may I say? You do not need to employ devices."

Diane's laugh at that had no amusement in it, nor did it thank Antoine for the compliment he was implying. "Try it," she directed. She watched, her eyes narrowed and her brows drawn over them, while Antoine deftly worked over her hair. Bernice watched. Bernice said proudly: "You can do anything with Mrs. Arden's hair!"

And so it seemed. For when Antoine finished it lay brushed smoothly from the nape of her neck and her temples to the top of her head where it bunched in a soft cluster of curls.

But Antoine, though an artist in his soul and therefore instantly aware that the new arrangement emphasized the fine modeling of Diane's head and throat, still shook his head. "It takes from your youth!"

"I want it to," Diane answered quickly. "Tell me, how do I keep these curls in?"

He showed her. With her naturally wavy hair, all that was necessary was a little dampness, a twist of the finger, a pin here, a pin there. The hat? He lifted his shoulders. The millinery designers were anticipating this new hair dress. The fall models were in, she would see—

Diane went bareheaded to a millinery shop nearby. "Very chic!" said the salesclerk of an absurd bit of head covering which Diane decided on. "A gown of this same color—it's the new Algerian blue and it's very becoming to you, Mrs. Arden."

Diane went to another shop and found a dress of the new Algerian blue and bought it. It would mean some rebudgeting, but she gave that only a fleeting thought. She felt stimulated by the afternoon, stirred out of her numbness. "Antoine said it! It's a new personality I must develop!"

She put on the new dress. The deep blue of tropic skies but, nevertheless, armor.

Bill telephoned to her to go on to his mother's without him. That he'd just about got there in time to sit down to dinner.

Mrs. Arden said: "Diane, your hair! It makes you look older!"

Diane patted the curls smooth. "I should look older, shouldn't I? Married and about to become a mother?"

Bill's father came out of his study, a book under his arm, a finger still between two of the pages. He put it down to take Diane's hand in a warm clasp. "Miriam has told me. I am very happy about it, my dear, proud."

Mrs. Arden excused herself to the kitchen to superintend Bella's last minute preparations, and Diane was left with Bill's father.

"We hope, of course, that it will be another William Arden," he said, smiling. "Another man of law. It's rather curious how that has gone through my family."

"But you missed it," said Diane, though with no interest in her voice.

Then she saw a look of humility cross Mr. Arden's face. He said, after a slight hesitation: "I studied law, and started to practice, but I did not keep on with it."

For the first time since she had met him, Diane felt a little curiosity about him. She knew from Bill that he had an income, inherited from his father, which, carefully watched, had supported them and given Bill his education.

That he had an office downtown, where he transacted some sort of a real estate business. But mostly his garden and his books occupied him.

She thought, looking at him: "Imagine Bill being satisfied with that!" And wondered at this older man's contentment.

Bill came, just then, and Mrs. Arden came in from the kitchen. Bill's father shook Bill's hand warmly, as he had shaken Diane's. "We are very happy about it, son!" And thankful that Diane suffered no serious consequences from her accident.

"In fact, she looks very well," added Mrs. Arden, smiling at Diane. "The enforced rest doubtless did her good!"

Bill was looking at Diane's hair.

a slightly puzzled expression on his face.

She laughed. "Antoine," she explained. "And the like do."

"I'm not sure I like it," Diane lifted her head very slightly.

"Dinner is ready," said Mrs. Arden, slipping her hand through Bill's arm to go to the dining room.

Another celebration, Diane thought, this limited to the immediate family. Pride again on Mr. and Mrs. Arden's faces. And Grandfather Arden looking down on it from the wall.

"Your mother said that you'd called in a Doctor Everts," questioned Bill's father of Bill.

"Diane had already gone to him. I've heard he is very good," put in Mrs. Arden, but with a hint of reservation in her voice.

"You'll have hard work making old Timothy Phelps understand."

"We are very partial to Doctor Phelps," Mrs. Arden explained to Diane. "Bill had pneumonia the winter he was twelve and Doctor Phelps stayed here in the house a day and two nights, through the storm. We've always felt deeply grateful to him!"

Under the tablecloth Diane moved her hands. Much as she laid them on herself, in discipline. She said, aloud: "The girls I know, who've had babies, have gone to Doctor Everts. So I went to him."

"Naturally, I'm sure Doctor Phelps will see why you did."

Bill's father spoke of an autobiography he was reading, asked Bill if he knew it. Mrs. Arden asked Diane if she had heard from Page since she'd gone away.

"I had a letter from her mother. They are enjoying their trip very much. They're going to New York to shop before they come home. Meeting Page's aunt there, the aunt who lives in New Orleans."

"I've heard Page speak of her, Aunt Beulah."

"She wanted Page to visit her last winter," continued Mrs. Arden. "Maybe she will, this."

Diane said: "Probably," and thought that, when her family heard about Rufus they would bring pressure on Page to go.

They played bridge after dinner, Bill's father consenting to make a fourth. But not late, for Bill said he had a busy day ahead of him.

And Mrs. Arden said, gently, her hand on Diane's arm: "This girl must get into the habit of going to bed early!"

In the car Bill commented, a little teasingly: "It wasn't so bad, was it?"

"Not too bad," Diane answered as lightly. And set her teeth. Bill's family would accept her now, overlook that she was of a different breed than they. They would be gently solicitous, eagerly interested, helpful. They'd say, over and over, that it must be a boy, another William Arden.

Hints on Etiquette

When you send out an invitation to a wedding anniversary celebration, the date of the wedding and the present year should be written or stamped at the top of the invitation.

Today's Horoscope

The easiest path is the one you pursue. You are independent, have originality and a fair amount of ambition, but your love of ease and comfort deters you from the greater success of which you are capable. You are moody and often depressed. You love deeply and faithfully. The day is doubtful. Efforts are not likely to meet with success on this date. This birthday anniversary brings good fortune, secret matters being especially well signified. Spiritual subjects interest you, and your intellectual faculties expand. Born on this date, a child will be straightforward, honest, outspoken, generous, philosophical, quickly detecting the weak points in others. He or she will be inspirational, prophetic and generally fortunate.

One-Minute Test Answers

1. The act of accenting; giving to the several notes of a piece their proper emphasis or expression.
2. Accelerating the time; gradually increasing the velocity of movement.
3. A movement played in moderate time, but flowing easily, steadily and gracefully.

NEW YORK—The graybeards among us, smoking dollar cigars and counting our doubloons, are apt to forget that one of youth's great problems is how to spend an evening without spending any money. A beardless sprout of my acquaintance came to me the other day, carrying that complaint in his empty pockets and, as I always do, I sent him off to ride the Staten Island ferry. An hour's ride across the bay, sea air, accordions, skyscrapers in the dusk—you can't beat it. And all for the price of a thin dime.

Last night, however, I came across a greater bargain. This would be the open-air forums in Columbus Circle, just off the southwest entrance to Central park—where, nightly, clusters of citizens decide the fate of the world, the merits of any given ism, what has happened to justice and whither youth.

New York is a town noted for its group arguments, and you can find discussions like these in squares and parks all over the five boroughs. But the ones in Columbus Circle are the best—perhaps because they make no sense whatever and to listen to them is to lose yourself in another, enchanted world, like watching a Saroyan play.

THERE ARE SEVEN OR EIGHT GROUPS, with from 20 to 80 persons in each. We drift by one. Labor unions seems to be the topic. A dour little man walks away from this one, disgusted.

"Money," he mutters. "All they talk about is getting more money. Why don't they cut down the hours? I want to work one hour a day. To my mind, that is perfect." We move on.

The next group seems to be on Christianity. A saintly-looking, little blond girl of 17 or so, with the face of a nun, is in the midst of this cluster, squared off against a gnarled old man whose chin is streaked with tobacco juice. "But God put Christ on earth because he loved men!" the blonde says, heatedly. The lighted windows of the swanky apartments along Central park south look down on the arguers. You can just picture the men within hunting for their dress studs and saying: "Confound it, VI, don't let me get drunk tonight!"

A cog looms up out of the darkness of the park and watches the heated discussions amiably. "Ah, they never fight," he says, pleasantly. "Let 'em talk. It passes the time for them."

A boy sits on a bench and intently picks fleas from the coat of his big police dog, lying with its head in his lap. A big electric sign says it is 9:27 p. m. and another big electric sign says tomorrow will be rainy and warmer.

AH—OVER HERE, IN THIS GROUP, is the old master, an elderly man with gray hair the length of a woman's, pale eyes that he keeps closed most of the time, and a shoelace of a tie. He is a familiar figure in the Circle; he has been here for years and he is treated deferentially. Not, alas, by all.

The old master is muddling along, dribbling out comments that are disconnected and incoherent. A grinning young Irishman next to us nudges us to watch. "Now," he says, sinking the needle deliberately, "what is your solution?" The old master pauses.

"I'm glad you asked that," he says. "Because in a way there is no solution. That is, of course, unless—but on the other hand..." The crowd roars at his apparently unconscious lapse into double talk, for which they'd pay a three-dollar cover charge in a night club.

Slowly we walk away. From one group, the voices rise swiftly from a murmur to a babble. We gather that democracy is being tried anew; that's the subject that draws the most fleas. Then the voices die again.

A drunk makes a tired bee-line for the nearby subway entrance. Two gum-chewing girls

Members of the Ladies aid of the First Evangelical United Brethren church gathered in the community house with 32 members and guests present for the annual election of officers.

Mrs. Ed. Millions presented the slate of officers. Mrs. Paul Dawson was elected president, Mrs. Charles Ater, secretary, Mrs. Ronald Nau, treasurer, Mrs. Ralph Long, pianist and Mrs. Iley Greene chorister. Decision was made by the members to divide the circle service society into groups with a captain elected as leader of each. These captains will serve as vice-presidents of the society.

Program opened with the group singing "He Hideth My Soul" and "Higher Ground". Mrs. Dawson was in charge of the devotional period which opened with prayers presented by the Rev. Carl Wilson and Miss Gladys Noggle. Mrs. C. O. Kerns, president, presided for the business session and heard the treasurers' report submitted by Mrs. Nau. Rev. Mr. Wilson explained in detail the program for the Fall conference. Mrs. Clarence Radcliff and Mrs. Frank Hawkes listed plans for the conference.

At the close of the evenings program refreshments were served by Mrs. Hawkes, Mrs. Chester Starkey and Mrs. Russell Jones.

"UNBLOCK" your DIGESTIVE TRACT

And Stop Dosing Your Stomach With Soda and Alkalizers

Don't expect to get real relief from headache, sour stomach, gas and bad breath by taking soda and other alkalizers if the true cause of your trouble is constipation.

In this case, your real trouble is not in the stomach at all. But in the intestinal tract where 80% of your food is digested. And when the lower part gets blocked food may fail to digest properly.

What you want for real relief is something to "unblock" your lower intestinal tract. Something to clean it out effectively—help Nature get back on her feet.

Get Carter's Pills right now. Take as directed. They gently and effectively "unblock" your digestive tract. This permits all 6 of Nature's own digestive juices to mix better with your food. You get genuine relief from indigestion so you can feel really good again.

Buy Carter's Pills today. "Unblock" your intestinal tract for real relief from indigestion.

May meeting for members of Circleville GOP Boosters was held in the home of Mrs. John Straley, East Logan street. Mrs. B. M. Wignel called the session to order as the group repeated the pledge of allegiance to the flag lead by Mrs. John Steinhauer and singing "America."

Herbert, Lieutenant-Governor of Ohio". Roundtable discussion followed using the subject "If we should have a third party ticket; effect, and how it would be supported". Miss Lenora Hundley presented the treasurer's report and Mrs. Roy Dumm listed the amount in the flower fund. Mrs. Wignel read a message from Mrs. Mary L. Smith telling of her trip to Dillingham, Alaska where she visited her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Griffen.

NEWS Behind the NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Now you might say this was not important unless it was successful. The CIO magazine shows you it is successful. Indented right into the same story is another story concerning this CIO campaign which started long before May 5 and continues in its unequalled attempt to influence public opinion. This indented story is headed: "For the record. Another link in the anti-labor record of the daily press was forged last week. The Two-way analysis of newspaper opinion reported that 'support of stiff legislation on labor has crystallized and strengthened.' The analysis, an objective survey of comment in the major daily papers, said that 48 percent of editorial opinion last week concerned labor legislation. Of comment on this subject 29 percent favored the stiff house anti-labor bill, which 22 percent preferred the equally vicious senate bill."

Now let us look at that again. If those percentages before May 5 expressed public opinion accurately then, they have certainly been changed by CIO activity. Also in this indented story the CIO is attacking the daily free public press. But union members work in every newspaper office throughout the country, in reportorial, typographical, telegraphic and I think other positions. The union thus is attacking its own industry, its own job. The extent to which it goes in this respect you may see from its own magazine on page 11. A strong attack is carried there against a certain nationally known soup company, charging it with gambling with the nation's tomato crop. Then it adds: "The union has been trying to negotiate with --- soup company management since February xxx."

Indeed, the former Philadelphia publisher Mr. David Stern has testified the CIO local union in his extremely favorable shop chased him out of business.

Opinions expressed by the writer in the column are the views of the author and not necessarily those of the Circleville Herald.

LET'S EXPLORE OHIO State Parks

This summer, week after week, you and your whole family can have more fun by making greater use of Ohio's 40 splendid State Parks.

Covering more than 140,000 acres of forests, lakes, hills and ravines, they offer you a wide choice of natural surroundings, with fine fishing, swimming, camping and picnic facilities. So skillfully have the parks been located that there is at least one, and frequently several of different types, within an easy drive of every city and town in the state.

These parks belong to the people. They are in part under the management of the Ohio Division of Forestry and in part under the Division of Conservation and Natural Resources.

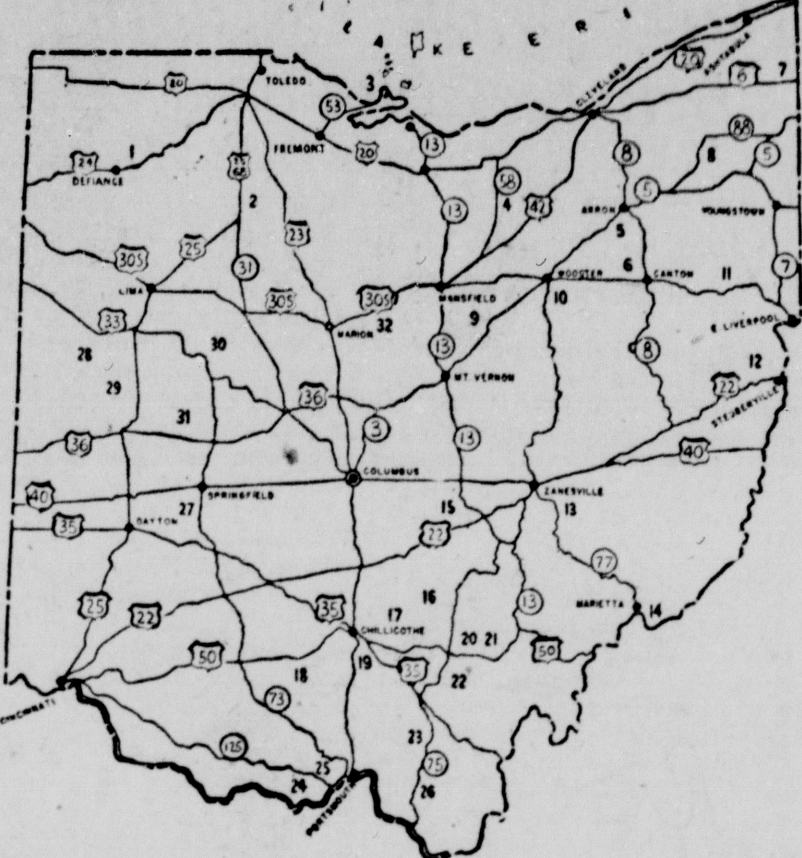

In addition, dedicated to your use, are the national parks and the new recreational areas centering about ten lakes and dams of the Muskingum Conservancy District.

Hundreds of thousands of Ohioans visit these State Parks each year but the grounds are so large that all find room for a Sunday picnic or a longer vacation right here at home. Many of the parks have natural lakes or water-control dams and developments. Well-stocked with fish they have facilities for boating and water sports. In most of them there are camping sites open to family groups; in some there are cabins which may be rented at a moderate fee.

Arrangements for camping sites and cabins may be made through the Ohio Division of Forestry, Chillicothe, Ohio, or through the Lakes and Parks Section, Division of Conservation and Natural Resources, State Office Building, Columbus, Ohio.

There are trailer sites and tables, fire-places, drinking water and other facilities for those who like to eat in the out-doors, and trails that wind through the depths of the forests and over the ridges of the hills to picturesque ravines.

The drive to many of the parks is through some of the most historic country in the nation.

Sammy Kaye, whose "So You Want To Lead A Band" contests have become a national institution, apparently is also qualified to conduct a class on "So You Want To Drive A CAR". Sammy this week received the Detroit Drivers' safety award for his knowledge of safe driving rules and then took time from his personal appearances in a theatre to give a safety driving lesson to a group of 100 Detroit teen-agers.

He will emcee the new audience participation show, "Listen Carefully," which premieres Sunday, June 22 at 9:30 p. m. The format of the program will include a three act drama with the contestants quizzed

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

OVERDOING DANGEROUS

NO MATTER HOW sound a principle may be, the overdoing of its application can be highly dangerous. This is especially true of the choice between two suits for trumps. In most cases, the one which shows the same number of cards in your hand and your partner's, or nearest to the same number, is preferable because the less-balanced suit then can furnish discards of losers because it is a side suit. But if that less-balanced suit has an unusually large number of cards between the members of your pair, there is a grave danger of one opponent being blank in it. Making that suit the trump may be wise to prevent its being ruffed by the defense.

West decided that he would reverse usual procedure with his opening lead because of the unusual nature of the situation disclosed by the bidding. At a low contract, when the declarer had bid two suits, it is often advisable to lead a trump in order to prevent him from ruffing out losers of his side suit with the dummy's trumps. This was patently futile, however, with his opponents showing such fine fits in both majors.

East's bidding had shown such a large number of cards in the two minors that West decided the declarer's side was likely to be devoid of losers in those suits. Hence the only apparent chance to beat the bid contract was to find East totally void of hearts. He therefore led the heart 9 and set the contract at the outset by means of East's ruff.

North is the one who went wrong in the bidding, with his very last call. Having so many cards of his partner's two suits and knowing that South's hearts were longer than his spades because they were bid first, he should have placed the hand in 7-Hearts.

Hot west coast report is that the auto company which bought Meredith Willson to replace Dinah Shore, has also contracted for a full hour dramatic series from New York with stories to come from books, plays and films.

Evidently sponsors feel that mysteries and crime stories are just the thing to put chills into Summer weather. At any rate, two of the latest replacements to be signed are that type. They are "Call The Police," replacing "Amos 'n' Andy" starting June 3, and "Under Arrest" supplanting "The Shadow," June 8.

Conservation Department In Tribute To County Native

IRVIN PATRICK FEATURED IN SPECIAL STORY

Franklin Game Protector
Has Good Background For
Work In Ohio

Tribute to Irvin J. Patrick, former Pickaway county fish and game protector and now serving in that capacity in Franklin county, is paid in the June issue of the Ohio Conservation Bulletin, monthly periodical of the Ohio Division of Conservation and Natural Resources.

The article recites that "Pat's" three-year experience in Colorado as a U. S. government hunter in the service of the federal fish and wildlife service, and the stalking of game-and-cattle-killing bobcats, mountain lions, and coyote and a few bears, fitted him admirably for the job of Ohio fish and game protector.

PATRICK joined the Conservation Division field force as a game protector in the Buckeye Lake area and as a lake patrol officer in 1942. Since then he has served in several counties on special duty. He is now assigned to Franklin county although occasionally he spends some time on Buckeye Lake during holiday periods.

Serving a metropolitan area like Columbus means many long and tedious hours for a game protector and requires a tolerant attitude toward the public in general which calls for assistance in connection with many things other than law enforcement, but "Pat" considers it all "in a day's work."

PATRICK has received unusual publicity during the last two years in the outstanding number of arrests chalked up. But to "Pat" the credit does not always go to the arresting officer. He says it is the violators themselves who set the record and that the officer merely is performing his duty. He follows the theory that every man is innocent until proven guilty and that every violator looks alike.

Like most people, Patrick for a holiday hobby emulates the postman. He goes-crow shooting and fox hunting.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick and daughter, Carol Ann, 16, live just north of Reynoldsburg, east of Columbus. He was 34 on his last birthday. He is a native of Pickaway county.

DEGREES CONFERRED

KILLED ON FARM

LANCASTER, O., June 3—Funeral services were scheduled for today for Lawrence D. Bauer, 74, Lancaster, who died of a broken neck.

Fairfield County Coroner C. A. Barrow said Bauer was killed while helping plow a field on the farm of his son, Lawrence, four miles south of Lancaster. The coroner said Bauer was thrown forward when the tractor started suddenly.

In 1946 more persons were fingerprinted than during any year in the past decade. The FBI recorded 645,431 arrest records in that year.

USE OF GOLDEN RULE IS URGED

Kiwanis Speaker Insists
Remembering Customer
Is All Important

Use of the golden rule in business dealings was advocated by Oscar Fleckner, executive secretary of the Ohio Small Loan association, at the Kiwanis Club father-son banquet Monday evening in Hanley's.

Mr. Fleckner, talking on "Business Standards," told his listeners that the "customer is king. He is the 'old man' of business, the person who puts the food on the table, builds the homes and clothes the families of the merchants."

HE ADVOCATED following the old rule "the customer is always right". He said the customer is the only reason for business and urged merchants to seek the "confidence, faith and well being of customers."

The speaker suggested thinking of the future not in terms of hopelessness but looking forward to serving the public

Special College Event Will Begin On June 6

Hundreds of graduates from all over the world will return to the campus of Otterbein College this week for the celebration of the centennial of the Westerville institution.

The festivities begin on June 6 and will conclude on Monday, June 9, when President J. Gordon Howard will confer baccalaureate degrees upon 120 seniors. Eight distinguished citizens, including Orville Wright, famous inventor, will receive honorary degrees.

Another to receive an honorary degree will be the Rev. Luther M. Kumer, Norwalk, Ohio, who is the institution's oldest graduate, now in his ninety-eighth year.

Miss Sylvia Phillips, Frances-town, New Hampshire, fourth generation student, will be crowned the centennial queen.

Bishop A. R. Clippinger, Dayton, will be the baccalaureate

in an ethical manner.

Mr. Fleckner was introduced by Don Henkle, who was in charge of the father-son event. Most members had sons present, while others brought fathers. Besides the special guests, Dan McClain, Chillicothe Kiwanian, was present.

speaker, and the Rev. Rolland W. Schloerb, Chicago, will deliver the commencement address.

Dr. Wade S. Miller, director of the centennial program, announces that approximately $850,000 in new assets have been raised and will be used to erect a new library (pictured above), a new dormitory and a new memorial stadium.

Otterbein was the second college in America to admit women and is believed to be the first to have a woman on its faculty. As early as 1859 Otterbein admitted a Negro and the home of Dr. Lewis Davis, the first president, was a station on the underground railway.

Fire Alarm System Abandonment Being Protested

HUNDREDS SIGN PETITIONS TO RETAIN BOXES

Large Delegation Expected To Jam Council Chambers At Meeting

Petitions carrying more than 1,000 signatures protesting abandonment of Circleville's fire alarm system will be presented to the city council which is scheduled to meet at 8 p. m. Tuesday.

The presentation will be made in the presence of a large number of signers who have indicated their intention of attending the council session to back up their demands that the council rescind its order for the removal of the 24 alarm boxes and the wiring.

Heavy-caliber oral blasts are expected to be fired at the council members who voted for discarding the alarm system and Tuesday night's session promises to be a hectic affair. Citizens who are protesting the abandonment will likely jam the council chamber on the second floor of city hall.

PETITIONS have been in circulation for several days and it was learned that the petitions have gained signers in all sections of the city.

Lewis "Tate" McClarren, operator of a market at South Pickaway and Walnut streets, reported that more than 800 south side residents had signed petitions in his store. Other petitions were reportedly being signed in the north end of the city and also on the east side.

Councilman Boyd L. Horn was the lone member of council who opposed the idea of discarding the fire alarm system and who voted against the order.

The petitions circulated through the city protest council's action at its May 20 meeting in ordering the removal of the alarm boxes and in directing Safety Director Thurman I.

A delegation of members of the Chamber of Commerce will be on hand to back up that organization's request that the city provide free installation of water and sewer lines in a veterans' homesite on South Court street at the south edge of Circleville.

THE CHAMBER of Commerce delegation will renew that organization's request, which was voiced at the May 20 meeting by Mack D. Parrett, representing the Chamber, and on which council took no action after a majority of the councilmen indicated the city would not grant free installation of the water and sewer facilities.

Parrett explained to the council that the Chamber of Commerce acquired 21 lots and that the sale of the lots has been restricted to war veterans.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Klerman

Our colleges are turning out so many graduates this year you can smell sheep in any employment office.

But the American library association reports a serious shortage of publicly owned volumes. What this country seems to need is a good free book.

June brings graduation time around the world. Governments in Hungary and Nicaragua have received their decrees and Abdel-Krim is back from Reunion island.

But June now is official—bathers are going in and coal miners are thinking of coming out.

Lewis bargained separately with northern and southern operators. Probably he is the only man who could walk out on the North without the South giggling a little.

THE TWISTED wreckage of a Piper Cub lies in the woods near Red Bank, N. J., after it collided in mid-air with a Navy transport and plunged to the ground. Allan Coles, 26, of Middletown, N. J., a flight instructor, and his pupil, Willard F. Ivins, 32, of Rumson, N. J., were both killed. The Navy plane continued on its flight and landed safely.

House and Senate Split On Date of Adjournment

COLUMBUS, O., June 3—House and senate leaders split completely today on the final adjournment date of the Ohio legislature.

House Majority Leader Paul McCord (R-Columbus) insisted the house could—and would—finish its working sessions this Friday, despite the failure of the additions and betterments bill to come out of the finance committee as expected.

Senate Majority Leader Frank Whitmore (R-Akron) on the other hand, was equally positive in his statement that "we can't possibly finish this Friday."

"We don't think we'll even have the ($85 million dollar) general appropriations bill out of committee by Friday," Whitmore stated. "Then we'll need two or three days, or as much time as we need, on the additions and betterments bill, when we get it from the house. It's just impossible to finish this Friday."

ASKED IF the senate hoped to finish a week later, on June 13, Whitmore countered:

"I'll tell you more after this Friday. But if you can assure me that we'll be through by then, 'I'll be darn glad of it.'"

McCormick pointed out that the house need only pass the A. & B. bill and the yet-to-be introduced sundry claims bill to wind up its work.

The house has passed a resolution setting Friday as the last working day, but that is bottled up in the senate rules committee where, Whitmore indicated, it will remain until the senate leadership gets some idea of its own as to the final working day.

GARSSON SAYS MAY REFUSED PAY FOR WORK

WASHINGTON, June 3—Munitions-maker Henry Garsson testified today that he tried to pay Andrew J. May for wartime services May performed for the Garssons munitions combine, but that the ex-congressman refused.

Garsson, a defense witness in the conspiracy trial of himself, his brother Murray and May, was referring to May's operation of the Garsson-finance Cumberland Lumber company in Prestonsburg, Ky.

He testified that May handled the company only because he felt a "moral obligation" to do so, since he was the one who induced the Garssons to go into the lumber business.

Garsson said that May never received for himself one cent of the thousands of dollars the Garssons poured into the company.

STATE PROBING DEATH OF THREE SHOW HORSES

PORTSMOUTH, O., June 3—A representative of the state veterinary medicine department began a probe today of the mysterious death of three show horses at the Scioto county fairgrounds. The horses, valued at $30,000, belonged to Dr. O. O. Burt, Londonderry, who asked for an investigation following death of the animals yesterday.

The horses were stabled at the fair grounds to train for Summer horse shows. Six other horses appeared in good condition.

PILOT ACCUSED

WASHINGTON, June 3—James M. Landis, chairman of the civil aeronautics board, told congress today that the pilot of a United Air Lines plane which crashed at La Guardia field, New York, killing 42, ignored a control tower suggestion that he use a different runway.

VANDENBERG IN DENOUNCEMENT OF HUNGARIANS

Ambassador To United States Recalled As Communists Start New Purge

WASHINGTON, June 3—Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., today harshly denounced the Communist coup in Hungary and said America should call for a trial in the forum of the United Nations "if the facts justify such action."

The senate foreign relations chairman told the senate that despite the Communist move in Hungary the pending treaty with that country should be ratified.

Vandenberg made his statement in opening debate on the Italian and Balkan peace treaties.

Vandenberg called attention to "definite indications of Moscow's influence in Hungarian affairs." He said the Yalta and Potsdam agreements had been "contemptuously blotted" and left as "scraps of dishonor."

He cited the arrest of the secretary general in Hungary, "police assaults" and an "armed conspiracy" climaxed in the removal of the Hungarian premier, Ferenc Nagy, and his succession by János Dinnyes.

Vandenberg held that "America cannot deal with Hungary as she deals with Greece" because she is an ex-enemy state. He said:

"They are parallel tragedies but they cannot have parallel treatment."

WASHINGTON, June 3—The Hungarian legation in Washington announced today that the new pro-Communist government in Budapest has ordered Minister of Education.

BRITISH PLAN FOR GRADUAL INDIAN CHANGE

LONDON, June 3—The British labor government abandoned hope for a unified India today and announced a plan for gradual partitioning on a modified dominion status basis which former Prime Minister Churchill immediately approved in principle.

Prime Minister Attlee and Indian Viceroy Viscount Mountbatten simultaneously announced the complex details of the plan, which also was sanctioned by Hindu, Moslem and Sikh leaders.

Immediately after Attlee had read his historic statement in a dry perfunctory manner to the house of commons, Churchill, as leader of the opposition, said the conservatives would not oppose partitioning. Attlee reiterated Britain's determination to withdraw entirely from India by June, 1948.

BONDS IN LIQUOR CASES DECLARED FORFEITED

COLUMBUS, O., June 3—The $1,000 bonds of the 93 private club license holders whose liquor permits have been revoked as the result of an investigation were declared forfeited today by Attorney General Hugh S. Jenkins.

Jenkins declared it was the first time since the liquor department was established in 1933 that bonds had actually been ordered forfeited.

The permits were among the flood of licenses issued in the closing days of the Lausche administration. Jenkins' probe, instituted at the request of Gov. Herbert, is continuing. The attorney general stated that "continuing activity . . . in this matter promises to result in the revocation of more of the D-4 permits concerned."

'IKE' SAYS WAR 'STUPID FOLLY'

West Point Graduates Told Security Possible With Strength Of Arms

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 3—Gen. Dwight E. Eisenhower told the United States military academy graduating class today that "war is mankind's most tragic and stupid folly."

The Army chief of staff, who three years ago was ready to launch history's greatest military operation, the invasion of France, warned that security for the nation can never be achieved "unless all other peoples feel equally safe."

Eisenhower declared that relative security, only, is possible through strength of arms.

HE CALLED upon American soldiers to be leaders for world cooperation, knowing that to serve best the security of their country they must "work for the cause of peace."

The general told the graduates: "War is mankind's most tragic (Continued on Page Two)"

BYRNES TALKS LOAN TO ITALY WITH PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, June 3—James F. Byrnes, former secretary of state, today discussed a proposed 100 million dollar loan to Italy with President Truman.

Following the conference Byrnes said he is interested in the plight of the Italian people.

He said the President told him that an investigating group from the export-import bank is scheduled to return to this country shortly from Italy after making a study of conditions in Italy.

Byrnes quoted the President as saying that the proposed loan, which is viewed favorably by this government, will be decided upon when the export-import bank report is made.

BYRNES GETS FILM JOB

HOLLYWOOD, June 3—Film Czar Eric Johnston today announced appointment of former secretary of state James F. Byrnes as counsel to Johnston. Johnston said Byrnes' first task would be to develop a set of fair trade practices "to protect the freedom of the American screen."

Pickaway County Schools To Get $306,435 Under New Bill; City $112,478

Circleville and Pickaway county schools would receive $112,478 in state aid under provisions of the Daniels-Cramer bill as it was passed by the house last week.

H. E. Louis, Pickaway representative to the Ohio general assembly, Tuesday submitted a table showing the amount received under present laws and the amount to be distributed if the present bill stands as it was passed by the house.

However, he pointed out, there is a possibility of even more funds becoming available. The senate passed the bill with the provision for more funds than the house and a conference between members of the two bodies may agree on a compromise figure.

Under provisions of the present bill 75 percent of the state funds will be earmarked for teachers' salaries. The proposed $2,000 minimum salary is not included in the bill. Mr. Louis pointed out several arguments against a minimum salary. He said in some districts it would be necessary to cut the maximum to bring up the minimum, because of lack of funds.

IN THE FOLLOWING table Mr. Louis has listed each school district, elementary enrollment, high school enrollment, proposed state aid, present state aid, number of elementary teacher and number of high school teachers:

Ashville, with 250 elementary pupils, 77 high school pupils, nine elementary teachers and five high school teachers, will receive $25,266. The district has been getting $15,786. Increase is $9,480.

Darby township, 168 elementary, 57 high school, 5 elementary teachers, 4 high school teachers, $24,789, has been getting $17,632, increase $7,157.

Deercreek township, 187 elementary, 46 high, 4 elementary teachers, 5 high teachers, $22,550, has been getting $15,871, increase $6,679.

Harrison township, 46 high, 4 elementary teachers, 3 high teachers, $8,660, has been getting $7,272, increase $1,388.

Jackson township, 167 elementary, 47 high, 6 elementary teachers, 7 high teachers, $15,789, has been getting $11,311, increase $4,478.

Madison township, 78 elementary, 3 elementary teachers, $7,263, has been getting $5,977, increase $1,286.

Monroe township, 158 elementary, 56 high, 4 elementary teachers, 6 high teachers, $23,926, has been getting $17,245, increase $6,681.

Muhlenberg township, 63 elementary, 4 elementary teachers, $3,921, has been getting $3,038, increase $883.

BOY SURVIVES MILE TRIP IN FLOODING DITCH

DAYTON, June 3—Gunter Boccia, three-year-old son of a German scientist employed at nearby Patterson field, was little the worse for wear today despite being swept a mile down a rain-swollen drainage ditch.

Little Gunter fell off a bridge into the swirling waters and his playmates ran and informed his mother, Mrs. Edith Boccia.

Mrs. Boccia, who once was a life guard in Germany, ran into the ditch, jumped into the waters fully clothed and swam downstream until she found the child.

"I thought he was dead when I pulled him out," she said. "He looked like he didn't have any life."

However, artificial respiration brought the boy to consciousness and he was taken to the Patterson field hospital where his condition was described as good.

Patterson field officials said the boy was washed through several tunnels and under several bridges.

HEARINGS ON WAR TRAINING PLANNED SOON

WASHINGTON, June 3—Rep. Andrews (R) N. Y., announced today that the house armed services committee will open hearings on compulsory universal military training "in a week or ten days."

Andrews, committee chairman made the announcement after the house group received a telegram from scientist Karl Compton declaring that "the situation is too serious to justify delay."

The committee chairman declared that Compton, who headed a presidential commission on universal training, will be the first witness.

SCIOTO MAY HIT NEW HIGH; LOW LAND COVERED

10 Inch Boost In Two Hours Spreads Water Over Two Highways

Lowlands along the Scioto river near Circleville were inundated at noon Tuesday and the steadily rising waters of the Scioto and its tributaries gave warning of possible serious damage to crops, livestock, and other property. Some roads in the area were under water.

The flood stage of 14 feet was reached at 8 a. m. Tuesday and by 10 o'clock the level was 14 feet 10 inches, a rise of 10 inches in two hours.

CHARLES CARTER, Circleville weather observer for Uncle Sam, reported that the Scioto at Circleville rose 8.95 feet during the 24-hour period ended at 8 a. m. Tuesday. He warned that the stream might continue to rise steadily for at least another 24 hours. Carter said the rainfall in the Circleville area measured .44 inch Sunday night and until Monday morning, with an addition .81 of an inch since 8 a. m. Monday, or a total of 1.25 inches since Sunday night. The average June precipitation is 3.12 inches, thus the rainfall during the first two days this month amounts to one-third of the normal total for June.

The rainfall in May totaled 4.84 inches, Carter said. Added to April's precipitation of 7.54 inches, the total for the two months is 12.38 inches.

Pickaway county farmers, harassed for several weeks by excessive rainfall and fields so soggy that plowing and planting were impossible, Tuesday were menaced by the worst danger of all—a serious flood.

BY MID-MORNING Tuesday flood waters had inundated a section of State Route 316 at Mackey Ford, and the waters also had spread over State Route 104 at Dewey Park. Although the (Continued on Page Two)

CONGRESS SENDS TAX CUT BILL TO PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, June 3—Senate GOP leaders planned to send their four billion dollar tax reduction bill to the White House today as Democrats and Republicans speculated on a presidential veto.

Administration lieutenants, awaiting completion of congressional action on the bill, confidently forecast that President Truman will reject the measure.

One Democratic official close to the White House said that if the senate voted today on the 10½ to 30 percent tax slash, Mr. Truman's veto message may be expected back in the lap of congress by Thursday. The President leaves Friday for Kansas City where he will spend the weekend. He leaves Washington again on June 9 for a visit to Canada.

House ways and means Chairman Knutson (R) Minn., said, however, that he is convinced that Mr. Truman will let the tax relief measure become law.

SCIOTO MAY HIT NEW HIGH; LOW LAND COVERED

Scioto and smaller streams in the Circleville area have been on the rampage several times this Spring it was feared Tuesday that the worst conditions may lie just ahead.

Making no mention of more rain in the immediate future the official weather prediction said Tuesday afternoon and night would be cloudy and continued cool, with Wednesday cloudy and warmer.

Farm experts painted a gloomy picture of the agricultural outlook over Ohio, with considerable damage, personal hardships, and more work to the hard-pressed Ohio farmers in the wake of the latest torrential rains.

Some farm spokesmen declared that the plight of many farmers has just about reached the "calamity stage," although a few sunny and rainless days might put swollen streams and rivers back within their banks, and might halt the threat of more serious inundations.

EVEN MORE serious than crop losses, some experts asserted, is the heavy amount of soil erosion, particularly in central and southern Ohio where the soil is over-saturated and is being washed into streams.

Several landslides in the Cincinnati area today underscored the erosion threat. The great Miami river also was out of its banks in several places in the Queen City area and a few roads were blocked by high water.

The Mahoning river rolled out of its banks at Niles today, flooding a section of the Pennsylvania railroad's Cleveland - Pittsburgh line to a depth of 15 inches. Passenger trains were being rerouted through Youngstown and Niles passengers were being hauled by taxicabs.

The Blanchard river, rising at the rate of two inches hourly, was posing a threat to sections of Hancock county.

WATER WAS receding from the Mill creek area in Cleveland's suburban Garfield Heights area where a trailer camp was inundated by the flooding Mill creek. Firemen carried 30 occupants of the camp to emergency quarters provided by the Red Cross.

The basements of homes were flooded over a wide area, including Chagrin Falls, suburban Cleveland Heights, Bellevue, Tiffin and Springfield.

Breaks in the Miami river levee resulted in the flooding of a section of Harrison township, near Dayton. Thirty families were vacated by boats as their homes were surrounded by from six to eight feet of water.

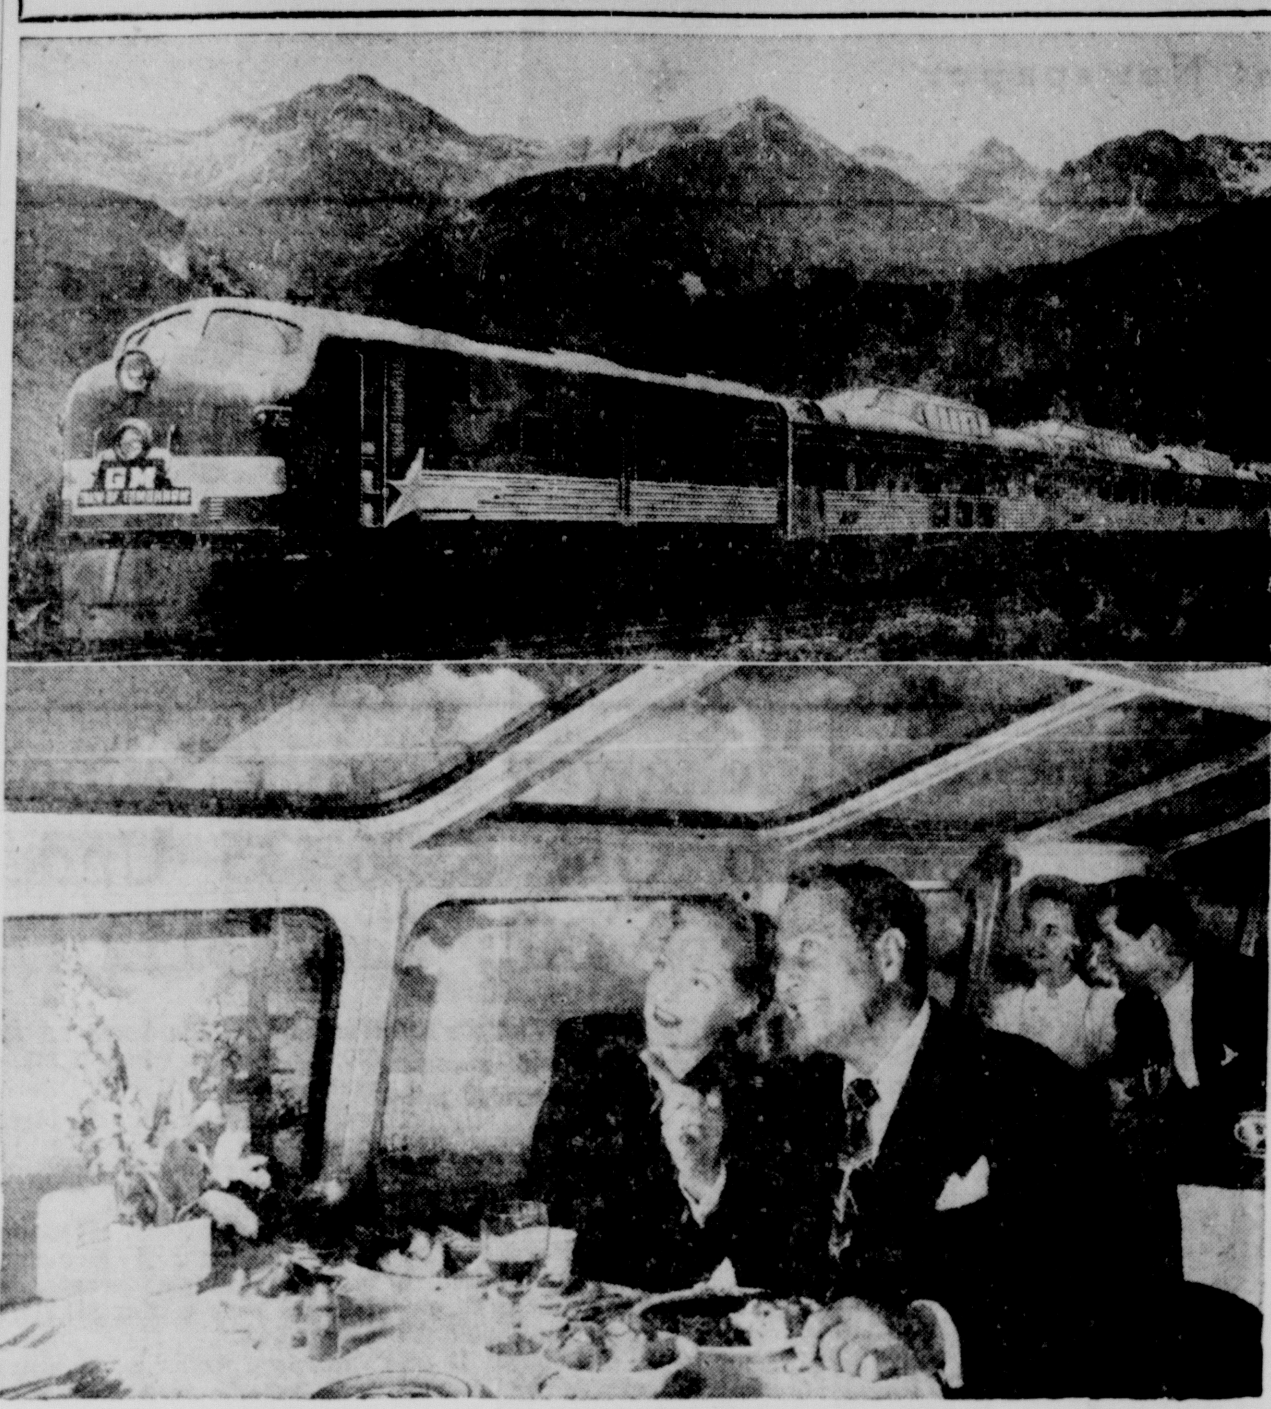

The state department of highways reported many roads blocked by water, principally in Miami, Logan, Shelby and Drake counties.

MORE CHILDREN INVITED TO JOIN BIBLE SCHOOL

With 220 pupils enrolled in the annual Trinity Lutheran church daily vacation Bible school, the Rev. George L. Troutman announced Tuesday that enrollment would continue through Wednesday morning.

The Lutheran pastor called attention to the fact that the school is open to all children. Registration should be made at the Trinity parish house where classes are held from 9 a. m. to 11:10 a. m. daily.

Courses in handicraft, music, Bible study and other subjects are taught by qualified instructors. Initial registration and classes started Tuesday morning.

DIVORCE SUIT FILED

Claiming her husband struck her in the face with his fist and on another occasion broke a yardstick on her body, Mrs. Carol E. Wilson, West High street, a bride of less than five months, filed suit for divorce in Pickaway county common pleas court, Monday, accusing Raymond J. Wilson of extreme cruelty. Mrs. Wilson's petition says they were married Jan. 25, 1947 in Circleville. She also asks for alimony and to be restored to her maiden name, Carol E. Guthrie. Judge William D. Radcliff issued a temporary injunction restraining Mr. Wilson from molesting her during the pendency of the suit.

House and Senate Split On Date of Adjournment

amendment, but will go over until Wednesday before the senate acts.

Concurrence is only the remotest possibility, with the senate differences. Another major measure, the 300 million dollar soldier bonus proposal, also is snarled in a conference committee.

Conferences are expected to develop also on the appropriations bill, the A. B. bill, and the local government program. Only the sundry claims measure, among the six pieces of "must" legislation, seems likely to get through without a deadlock.

THE SENATE last night unanimously passed and sent to the house bills to permit the state to accept as a gift from the federal government Fletcher General hospital at Cambridge, valued at $2,104,000, and the Scioto ordnance works at Marion, valued at $748,000. The installations must be used as welfare institutions.

The senate also got into a snarl over concurrence in house amendments to the Sheppard omnibus elections bill, but finally concurred, 24-0. The bill also raises the pay of elections workers.

This came as responsible sources reported that the new Hungarian regime plans a sweeping purge of its main embassies and legations abroad.

Szegedy-Maszk, a career diplomat, has not been active in any Hungarian political faction. However, since his arrival in Washington he has exhibited great friendship for the United States.

DIPLOMATIC observers here were inclined to believe the purge reports since the Hungarian government under ex-premier Ferenc Nagy usually sent to the western democratic powers "friendly" envoys.

Orders for the minister's recall were received in Washington among the first batch of instructions from the Communist-sympathizing Budapest government.

How Bank Loans aid Farm Prosperity

Farmers of this section have learned to depend not only upon Nature and their own efforts for successful farm operations, but, also, upon money borrowed from this bank at certain seasons, for crop making, marketing, and other purposes.

Good land, with good farmers cultivating it, produces wealth for this community, and we are glad to lend where we can to help make it more productive and to give our farmers well-deserved cooperation.

NEW TOURIST RECORDS MADE AT WASHINGTON

Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer Check On Government Work In Increasing Numbers

WASHINGTON, June 3 — Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer and all the little exemptions are hanging up a new tourist record for the nation's capital by appraising their investment in the government at first hand.

A spokesman for the capital board of trade revealed today that records for the first six months of 1939—until now the peak year for capital visitors—have been broken.

The White House, probably the number one tourist attraction, pulled in an average of 5,000 visitors a day—or 2,500 an hour—during the Easter holiday season.

Otherwise the daily average hovers between 2,500 and 3,000 tourists a day with an increase in that figure expected during the summer.

DURING the month of April about 25,000 citizens took the FBI tour in the justice department building and learned the reasons why crime doesn't pay.

The average day finds about 2,000 people investigating their stake in the FBI. This total also is expected to be surpassed during the vacation months.

While there is no accurate estimate of the number of people who mill around capitol hill and give their senators and representatives the once-over from the galleries, the figure is believed by harried guards to be impressive.

THE ALL-TIME 1941 record for the number of tourists whisked to the top of the Washington monument apparently is a cinch to be shattered in 1947.

About 965,000 people came to see the monument in 1941. Last year the slender white shaft drew about 865,000 tourists and this year the figure is expected to zoom to a million or more.

The Lincoln memorial also had a record year in 1941 when about 1,700,000 tourists trudged up its marble steps to the cool quiet within. About one million people came to see it in 1946 and about 1,200,000 are expected in 1947.

THE MONTH of May found the capital up to its eyebrows in conventions. The board of trade says it was the biggest convention month Washington has ever known.

Romance has been flourishing in odd places among the Spring and early-Summer tourists. Honey-moon couples have been displaying a preference for the historic exhibits on display at the Smithsonian institute.

Officials explain that there is definitely romance in history—whether it happens to be centuries old or brand-new and dewy-eyed.

Ted Lewis

GRADUATE of the old-time vaudeville circuits Band Leader Ted Lewis still wears his battered high-hat trademark and still is asking musically "Is Everybody Happy?" Ted has been a part of show business for 35 years. When he was 14 he was barnstorming the country with circuses, burlesque and medicine shows. At 19 he was part of a trio, working the same bill as Will Rogers at the old Hammerstein theater in New York. He was fired after the theater manager saw a rehearsal, but years later returned to the same theater with his band at $7,500 a week from the same manager. By 1918 Ted Lewis had organized a five-piece ensemble that specialized in "smooth syncopation." And just about this time Ted acquired his famous "hat with a silver lining." It belonged to a cab driver who refused to sell it, but who finally lost it to Ted in a dice roll. Lewis insists he has worn same hat at every show since.

SEEK FIRE CAUSE

CLEVELAND, June 3 — Suburban East Cleveland firemen today probed ruins of a two-story brick building following fire of undetermined origin which caused damage estimated at $17,500.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Residents of Circleville, Ohio

It is about time something is said and done about the upper "click" that are controlling the interests and direction of our city of Circleville. The "high-handed" method that they employ, benefits only a minority of the people of Circleville—it is up to us to change this.

In a recent action by the city council they have abandoned the fire-alarm system, that is in need of numerous repairs. The fire-alarm system is the "backbone" of any city fire department, and of great necessity to the residents of this city who do not have access to a telephone. The time lost in locating a telephone to report a fire, probably, would mean the loss of your home or property. No doubt the insurance rates will increase as soon as this action is known.

This "click" can spend enormous sums of money, up to nearly a million dollars, but cannot spend a meager amount for fire protection. Over $400,000 was spent for the purchase of the Ohio Water Company, when we already had an adequate water system. Many thousands of dollars were spent for the boulevard lights, which were not necessary.

When the Ohio Water Company was purchased, we were filled with promises of cheaper rates in the course of time. It seems that these promises have been forgotten.

Action for a charge of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) for tapping into the city water main and fifteen dollars ($15.00) for a water meter has been started. The Ohio Water Company never made this charge to its customers.

I wonder if the parties that are perpetrating these acts realize what they are doing, especially to the returning veterans that are building homes.

The Circleville Fire Department has accomplished an excellent job in the past, but they will be under a severe handicap

if the fire-alarm system is abandoned.

This is not a general complaint about the money spent. It is to point out that if they can spend such amounts, it seems they could spend enough to bring the fire alarm system into good operational order.

CONTENDERS FOR MAJOR LEAGUE LEADS COLLIDE

Reds Put On Hitting Clothes To Defeat Clint Hartung And Giants, 9-3

NEW YORK, June 3—Today's baseball schedule presents a pair of naturals as the two current leading contenders in each major league are clashing head-on.

The National League headliner, the start of a four-game series in New York tonight between the Giants and the Chicago Cubs, is especially crucial with the two clubs tied for first place.

In the American League the pace-setting Tigers will tackle Yankees, who are going strong now that Joe DiMaggio is tearing the cover off the ball. Detroit, with a three-game lead, sent Dizzy Trout against Spud Chandler in today's opener.

TWO PITCHERS won their own games in yesterday's abbreviated program. Howie Pollet, stylish southpaw of the St. Louis Cardinals, beat Brooklyn, 5 to 4, by knocking in the winning run with a single, his second of the day, in the tenth inning.

Dave (Boo) Ferriss, 1946 ace of the Boston Red Sox, battled in three runs in beating the Chicago White Sox, 6 to 2, in the first game of a twin bill.

The White Sox employed football methods to take the nightcap, 6 to 5. Dave Philley of the Pale Hose, sliding into second base on a force play, threw a fast block at Don Gutteridge of the Red Sox and sent him sprawling, enabling two Chicago runners to cross the plate.

ANOTHER PITCHER, Clint Hartung of the Giants, tried to win his own game with a homer, but the Cincinnati Reds had their hitting clothes on and tagged the Hondo hurricane, 9 to 3, for the "phenom's" first setback in five major league starts.

Pittsburgh clambered back into the thick of the pennant scramble in the senior circuit by staggering to the wire with a 4 to 3 win over the Boston Braves.

In the only other game played, a night contest at St. Louis, the Philadelphia Athletics beat the Browns to 3.

BIVINS WINNER
BALTIMORE, Md., June 3 — Jimmy Bivins, Cleveland, was the possessor of a second round knockout over Omelio Argramanti, Cuba, today. Bivins, who weighed 182½, belted Argramanti out in a scheduled ten rounder at Baltimore last night. The Cuban weighed 181.

TO NAME LEADER
COLUMBUS, O., June 3—Ohio State University's football team will meet tomorrow to select a captain for 1947. Captain-elect Tommy James decided to pass up his final year to play with the National League Detroit Lions.

SOFTBALL GAME TO BE PLAYED HERE TONIGHT

Blue Ribbon and Esmeralda are scheduled to play a Night Softball league tonight in Ted Lewis park.

Rain Monday left the diamond too wet for the William-sport-Italy's game, but water had run off enough Tuesday morning to permit play tonight.

President Ed Amey, who announced tonight's game, said doubleheaders will be played as soon as the weather settles to permit "catching up" on the delayed schedule.

BLUES PLAN TO EXTEND LEAD PLAYING BIRDS

By International News Service
Kansas City's Blues, still leading the American association by two and a half games, turned to the seventh place Columbus Red Birds for opposition today.

A scheduled three-game showdown between the Blues and their closest rivals, the Toledo Mud Hens, became a total loss yesterday when rain washed out a double header for the second straight day.

The Blues are slated to play four games in Columbus today, tomorrow and Thursday.

Toledo lost a half game and had its second place advantage trimmed to .005 in the percentage column as Louisville blanked Minneapolis, 4 to 0, on three-hit pitching by Wes Bailey.

St. Paul and Indianapolis split a double header, the Saints winning a seven-inning opener, 4 to 1, but dropping the nightcap, 6 to 3. Bob Malloy of the Indians chalked up his fourth straight win in the after-piece, but the Tribe's Glen Fletcher had a four-game string broken.

Milwaukee and Columbus were idle because of wet grounds.

PLANS FOR OLYMPICS
PHILADELPHIA, June 3 — Philadelphia began laying the groundwork today for a campaign to become the site for the 1952 Olympics. Arthur W. Binns, president of the city's convention and visitors bureau, said a committee will discuss the prospects in New York today with Avery Brundage, president of the U. S. Olympic association and the American representative on the event's international governing body.

FFA MEETS
COLUMBUS, O., June 3—More than 2,500 delegates flocked into Columbus today for the 19th annual state convention of the Future Farmers of America.

CHAMP HORSE SOME PLAYERS MAY BE MADE CAN TAKE PART AT ARLINGTON IN CUBA LEAGUE

CHICAGO, June 3—It will be up to Chicago's Arlington park, known as the graveyard of champions, to make a champion before it breaks him on the three-year-old front this Summer.

Jet Pilot, Faultless, Phalanx and On Trust are the big four in a debate which will end on the rich, deep loam at Arlington when they go in the $100,000 classic July 26.

Then again, the argument may last beyond the classic and run over to the American derby late in August at Washington park. Or it may last forever.

You can't predict much about Washington Park, happy home of the long shot (Eternal Reward, at 103 to 1, won the American derby there last year). You can predict even less about what's liable to happen at Arlington, where such noted steeds as Whirlaway, Armed and Assault, all of them odds-on favorites, came home in the caboose.

SPITTLE BUG ATTACKS MANY KINDS OF CROPS

Most Damage May Result To
Strawberries And Celery,
Best Explains

During the last few days residents have been noticing foamy-like masses of material on meadows and pasture plants and, in some instances on certain vegetables and flower plants.

Larry Best, Pickaway county agriculture agent, said Tuesday. This is the work of the spittle bug.

The two crops these bugs damage most is strawberries and celery, if present in large enough numbers. There is no evidence to indicate that much damage will be done to the pasture and meadow plants.

It is possible that the wet cool weather is responsible for the abundance of this insect.

SPITTLE BUGS can be controlled on strawberries and celery by thoroughly dusting the plants, when the air is still, with 0.75 per cent rotenone dust. Strawberry growers should examine their plants and if these insects are numerous, apply the dust before serious damage occurs, Mr. Best said.

Flowers should also be dusted with the rotenone dust where these insects appear on them.

DISTRIBUTION OF COUNTY SCHOOL FUNDS IS MADE

Distribution of $52,194.10 to Pickaway county's 16 rural schools was announced Tuesday by George C. McDowell, superintendent of county schools, who said the money represented the second quarterly settlement in 1947 and was received from the Ohio Department of Education.

The schools sharing the cash with the amount received by each are as follows:

Ashville, $3,444.79; Darby township, $4,572.67; Deer Creek township, $3,776.39; Harrison township, $1,485.95; Jackson township, $3,519.75; Madison township, $1,386.37; Monroe township, $3,852.21; Muhlenberg township, $650.95; New Holland, $3,636.08; Perry township, $2,702.81; Pickaway township, $2,313.25; Salt Creek township, $4,208.73; Scioto township, $5,536.29; Walnut township, $6,020.73; Washington township, $3,494.71; and Wayne township, $1,592.42.

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPH

Home-Grown Eggplant Needs Encouragement

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Distributed by Central Press Association

SINCE eggplant is really a tropical vegetable, it should not be planted out in the garden until warm, sunny weather is assured. Even then it should be planted in the warmest spot in the garden for eggplant is a long season, tender plant.

To keep the young plants developing rapidly, they may need encouragement. A small handful of complete fertilizer should be placed in a circle around each plant after it has been set out, as illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph. Cultivate the fertilizer into the soil lightly. Repeat the application if growth appears slow. Plants about six inches in height are usually set out. It will help if the plants are given a thorough soaking in water the night before moving them. Black Beauty is recommended as the earliest eggplant. The fruits when mature are almost six inches in diameter, as illustrated, and are ready to pick 10 days to two weeks ahead of other varieties. They are dark purple in color and of fine quality.

Eggplants can be stored for a considerable period of time in a cool, moist cellar, therefore, a few extra plants should be set out for this purpose at planting time. When the fruits are cut for storage several inches of the stem should be left attached to each fruit.

Handle eggplants as though they actually were eggs, for the fruit is tender and bruises easily.

INCOME TAXES

SENATE passage of the income tax reduction bill was the result of argument that there would be an $8,500,000,000 surplus in the United States Treasury; that if $3,200,000,000 could be applied to the reduction in income taxes as the framers of the bill plan, there would still be a $5,000,000,000 balance for contingencies and for application to the public debt. In other words, reduction of both tax and debt could be achieved.

It is important that taxes be reduced if it can be accomplished and a healthy federal economy still be maintained. Not only would such a step be a definite ease of burden on all income groups, but it would have a good psychological effect.

It is an inescapable fact that incentive to effort is being dulled. Why should a man work to his utmost power if the resultant increase in income is syphoned off by his government? Especially when he feels sure too much of it is being used for causes with which he has little sympathy? He wants his Uncle Sam, for instance, to feed hungry people overseas who cannot feed themselves. But he wants to be sure his Uncle Sam is extending the strong hand of a friend who is helping his neighbor get on his feet, and not merely being done in as a sucker. He resents working hard to be taxed too high for the latter possibility.

Under the present tax structure situations are not uncommon wherein a man has more take-home pay left if he keeps his income down than if he strives to add to it. There is also abroad in the land a growing feeling that government can cut expenses and still render adequate service. If tax cuts will revitalize the productive urge among all classes of Americans, the Treasury can actually benefit from a judicious tax reduction at this time.

GOOD THINGS CAN BE NICE

"IT IS A popular belief," says the new book by Adelle Davis, "Let's Cook It Right," "that anything which builds health tastes like witches' brew and looks like baby spinach." This may be a survival of the old idea, attributed often to the Puritans, that anything pleasant has an element of wrong in it. Thus people look askance at modern schools which try to make pupils like their work, instead of forcing it down their throats. And we have all known persons who felt particularly virtuous when they had put themselves to inconvenience. Somebody should attack all these notions as erroneous, and sometimes even pernicious.

It is time to start building homes in earnest, and lots of them.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, June 3—The inside explanation of major events from Washington lately may be found today in the place you would least expect it—the CIO News, a magazine hard to get, dated May 5.

You may pursue it with me. The leading article tells of a thousand union members visiting the capitol "to the disgust of a lot of congressmen seeking to knife the people's interests," and continues:

"They talked with representatives and senators, left petitions and scrolls and headed home determined to spread the word that now is the time to prepare for the '48 elections, x x x Said Luther Slinkhard, UAW-CIO official in St. Louis who spoke for a group of 32 Missouri unionists; your visit with Missouri congressmen showed a shocking lack of recognition of the seriousness of the Hartley bill." (Note to those who do not have time to read much news: the Hartley bill was largely discarded by the house and senate conferees last week.)

"The congressmen, with the exception of Reps. Cannon and Kartsten, are either un-informed or badly informed x x x.

From Ohio came 150 CIO'ers x x x 50 of them crowding into a committee room for an interview with Senator Taft x x x were told by the senate GOP leader that labor was exaggerating the seriousness of the bill and that he has no objection to industry-wide bargaining x x x. The Ohio senator had gone to great lengths to keep that view out of the public eye. x x x Conclusions of Lavelle and the Ohio group: "We found many congressmen who voted for the Hartley bill and didn't know what they were voting for. x x x Indiana sent two groups of CIO Hoosiers to make life difficult for Senators Capehart and Jenner and for many GOP members of the state's delegations." x x x

The article continues to tell of delegations visiting senators and congressmen from their home districts, South Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, New York, New Jersey, the New England states, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Kentucky and West Virginia, with similar tactics.

The article is headed: "Mr. Labor Comes to Washington." The final line says with innuendo: "and judging from what the delegates promised they'd report to the people back home (that?) a lot of congressmen must be having a bad case of red ears."

Now let us go over that again from the beginning. This sort of thing has been continuing since the beginning of consideration of the labor bills and before. In that time there have been no similar tactics by the public at large, interested solely in the public welfare.

No delegations for them before congress in such a way or any other. Their weekly magazines, news services, etc. were not similarly active. In short, the people whose interests are thus reported to have been "knifed" did not even appear. The CIO justified either by its limited members or people's interests, an assumption hardly plainly is assuming it solely represents the an instance of this, the CIO editors carry this attempt in its own selfish interest. For a headline on page 5: "CIO wage gains soar. Pay hikes for half a million." They do not report that the wages of the other 134,500,000 people soar although these 134,500,000 people are also in the CIO.

DIET AND HEALTH

The Baby Born a Cretin

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

SPEED regulator of all the body's activities is the thyroid gland. Located in the neck, this gland secretes the substance which not only determines growth, but also sets the basic pace for all vital processes.

Now and then a child is born with a lack or not enough of this secretion. Such children grow very slowly both physically and mentally and are known as cretins. At first the baby may appear to be normal but a doctor's experienced eye will note that its tongue is unusually large and that it nurses feebly. These are often the first signs that cretinism is present. Later, of course, it will be apparent in the failure to grow properly.

Proper Treatment

But here is good news. If this condition is properly treated, or if the thyroid gland begins to form enough of its secretion, all of the evidence of the previous deficiency may disappear except, perhaps, the child may be under normal height and may be slightly backward mentally.

During the proper treatment with thyroid extract, the growth of the bones may go on rapidly enough so that the child may reach normal height for his age. Few cretins, however, attain normal intelligence, but the earlier treatment for the condition is begun, the better will be the outcome.

Giving Thyroid Extract

As I have mentioned, the treatment is the giving of thyroid extract. Of course the dosage must be carefully regulated by the physician. If there is some doubt as to whether or not the child's difficulty is due to deficiency, thyroid extract may be given to see if it is producing any benefits. But we must not forget that if too much thyroid extract is given, the child becomes irritable and nervous.

Primary Objective

The primary objective in the treatment is to bring back the normal growth rate. A good way to check on the treatment is to determine the amount of a substance known as cholesterol in the blood. If enough thyroid extract is used, and then is stopped, the amount of cholesterol in the blood rises to too high a level.

According to Dr. Lewis M. Hurxthal and Dr. Natalia Musulin of Boston, Mass., if the child is receiving thyroid, it may be a good plan to stop it from time to time and then to determine if the amount of cholesterol in the blood increases. If this happens, the thyroid extract should be started again and continued.

Of course, in the case of cretins, careful handling of the patient by the physician is necessary.

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE

DIANE WENT in the afternoon to a beauty parlor—not to the neighborhood one she had been patronizing since she married but, on a sudden impulse, to Antoine's more exclusive "Salon des Femmes." Antoine, himself, greeted her effusively. Bernice, who had always taken care of her, who had come to the house on Oak Avenue on the evening of the wedding to arrange her hair under the lace cap of her veil, left another patron and rushed up to serve her. "It is quite all right that you made no appointment, Mrs. Arden," asserted Antoine and Bernice in the same voice.

"I want everything," said Diane. Bernice's expert fingers on her scalp and skin were soothing. Bernice's voice, cooing over her. "Lovely! Lovely, I always think, when I do your hair, Mrs. Arden. It's as soft as a child's!"

Through the mirror Diane considered her hair, in golden confusion, now. "Call Antoine before you set the wave," she said.

When Bernice summoned him, Antoine came, bowing, smiling, to the booth. "Antoine, I'm tired of the way I've been wearing my hair. Can't you think of something different?"

"My lady would change her personality?" murmured Antoine, shaking his head, pulling down his lips. "That would be most sad!"

"That is exactly what I want to do!"

"There is a new vogue—but it suggests sophistication, Mrs. Arden, the superficial! And you are not that type! You are a—natural, may I say? You do not need to employ devices—"

Diane's laugh at that had no amusement in it, nor did it thank Antoine for the compliment he was implying. "Try it," she directed.

She watched, her eyes narrowed and her brows drawn over them, while Antoine deftly worked with her hair. Bernice watched. Bernice said proudly: "You can do anything with Mrs. Arden's hair!"

And so it seemed. For when Antoine finished it lay brushed smoothly from the nape of her neck and her temples to the top of her head where it bunched in a soft cluster of curls.

But Antoine, though an artist in his soul and therefore instantly aware that the new arrangement emphasized the fine modeling of Diane's head and throat, still shook his head. "It takes from your youth!"

"I want it to," Diane answered quickly. "Tell me, how do I keep these curls in?"

He showed her. With her naturally wavy hair, all that was necessary was a little dampness, a twist of the finger, a pin here, a pin there. The hat? He lifted his shoulders. The millinery designers were anticipating this new hair dress. The fall models were in, she would see—

Diane went bareheaded to a millinery shop nearby. "Very chic!" said the salesclerk of an absurd bit of head covering which Diane decided on. "A gown of this same color—it's the new Algerian blue and it's very becoming to you, Mrs. Arden."

Diane went to another shop and found a dress of the new Algerian blue and bought it. It would mean some rebudgeting, but she gave that only a fleeting thought. She felt stimulated by the afternoon, stirred out of her numbness. "Antoine said it! It's a new personality I must develop!"

She put on the new dress. The deep blue of tropic skies but, nevertheless, armor.

Bill telephoned to her to go on to his mother's without him. That he'd just about got there in time to sit down to dinner.

Mrs. Arden said: "Diane, your hair! It makes you look older!"

Diane patted the curls smooth. "I should look older, shouldn't I? Married and about to become a mother?"

Bill's father came out of his study, a book under his arm, a finger still between two of the pages. He put it down to take Diane's hand in a warm clasp. "Miriam has told me. I am very happy about it, my dear, proud."

Mrs. Arden excused herself to go to the kitchen to superintend Bella's last minute preparations, and Diane was left with Bill's father.

"We hope, of course, that it will be another William Arden," he said, smiling. "Another man of law. It's rather curious how that has gone through my family."

"But you missed it," said Diane, though with no interest in her voice.

Then she saw a look of humility cross Mr. Arden's face. He said, after a slight hesitation: "I studied law, and started to practice, but I did not keep on with it."

For the first time since she had met him, Diane felt a little curiosity about him. She knew from Bill that he had an income, inherited from his father, which, carefully watched, had supported them and given Bill his education.

That he had an office downtown, where he transacted some sort of a real estate business. But mostly his garden and his books occupied him.

She thought, looking at him: "Imagine Bill being satisfied with that!" And wondered at this older man's contentment.

Bill came, just then, and Mrs. Arden came in from the kitchen. "Tell me, how do I keep these curls in?"

He showed her. With her naturally wavy hair, all that was necessary was a little dampness, a twist of the finger, a pin here, a pin there. The hat? He lifted his shoulders. The millinery designers were anticipating this new hair dress. The fall models were in, she would see—

Bill was looking at Diane's hair.

NEW YORK—The graybeards among us, smoking dollar cigars and counting our doubloons, are apt to forget that one of youth's great problems is how to spend an evening without spending any money. A beardless sprout of my acquaintance came to me the other day, carrying that complaint in his empty pockets and, as I always do, I sent him off to ride the Staten Island ferry. An hour's ride across the bay, sea air, accordions, skyscrapers in the dusk—you can't beat it. And all for the price of a thin dime.

Last night, however, I came across a greater bargain. This would be the open-air forums in Columbus Circle, just off the southwest entrance to Central park—where, nightly, clusters of citizens decide the fate of the world, the merits of any given lam, what has happened to justice and higher youth.

New York is a town noted for its group arguments, and you can find discussions like these in squares and parks all over the five boroughs. But the ones in Columbus Circle are the best—perhaps because they make no sense whatever and to listen to them is to lose yourself in another, enchanted world, like watching a Saroyan play.

THERE ARE SEVEN OR EIGHT GROUPS, with from 20 to 80 persons in each. We drift by one. Labor unions seems to be the topic. A dour little man walks away from this one, disgruntled. "Money," he mutters. "All they talk about is getting more money. Why don't they cut down the hours? I want to work one hour a day. To my mind, that is perfect." We move on.

The next group seems to be on Christianity. A saintly-looking, little blond girl of 17 or so, with the face of a nun, is in the midst of this cluster, squared off against a grnarled old man whose chin is streaked with tobacco juice. "But God put Christ on earth because he loved men!" the blonde says, heatedly. The lighted windows of the swanky apartments along Central park south look down on the arguers. You can just picture the men within hunting for their dress studs and saying: "Confound it, VI, don't let me get drunk tonight!"

A cop looms up out of the darkness of the park and watches the heated discussions amiably. "Ah, they never fight," he says, pleasantly. "Let 'em talk. It passes the time for them."

A boy sits on a bench and intently picks fleas from the coat of his big police dog, lying with its head in his lap. A big electric sign says it is 9:27 p. m. and another big electric sign says tomorrow will be rainy and warmer.

AH—OVER HERE, IN THIS GROUP, is the old master, an elderly man with gray hair the length of a woman's, pale eyes that he keeps closed most of the time, and a shoelace of a tie. He is a familiar figure in the Circle; he has been here for years and he is treated deferentially. Not, alas, by all.

The old master is muddling along, dribbling out comments that are disconnected and incoherent. A grinning young Irishman next to us nudges us to watch. "Now," he says, sinking the needle deliberately, "what is your solution?" The old master pauses.

"I'm glad you asked that," he says. "Because in a way there is no solution. That is, of course, unless—but on the other hand..." The crowd roars at his apparently unconscious lapse into double talk, for which they'd pay a three-dollar cover charge in a night club.

Slowly we walk away. From one group, the voices rise swiftly from a murmur to a babble. We gather that democracy is being tried anew, that's the subject that draws the most flies. Then the voices die again.

A drunk makes a tired bee-line for the nearby subway entrance. Two gum-chewing girls detach themselves from one of the groups and wander slowly into the park. A couple of sailors follow them. The boy on the bench is still picking fleas from his dog.

MOMENT OF GLORY DEPARTMENT: Toscanini and Vladimir Horowitz, his son-in-law, came into Giovanni's the other night, picked out a choice corner table and headed for it.

Giovanni blocked them off neatly, told them politely the table was saved for other guests, and shepherded them to another. The other guests finally came in—Wall Street big-wig Vladimir Bashkoff and his charming artist wife, and a junior executive named Heimer and his charming columnist brother.

Always a good winner, I nodded graciously to the two long-hairs, but they were immersed in their soup. Two-bit musicians.

NEWS Behind the NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

500,000 are the people they profess to represent.

Now you might say this was not important unless it was successful. The CIO magazine shows you it is successful. Indented right into the same story is another story concerning this CIO campaign which started long before May 5 and continues in its unequalled attempt to influence public opinion. This indented story is headed: "For the record. Another link in the anti-labor record of the daily press was forged last week. The Two-way analysis of newspaper opinion reported that 'support of stiff legislation on labor has crystallized and strengthened.' The analysis, an objective survey of comment in the major daily papers, said that 43 percent of editorial opinion last week concerned labor legislation. Of comment on this subject 29 percent favored the stiff house anti-labor bill, which 22 percent preferred the equally vicious senate bill."

Now let us look at that again. If those percentages before May 5 expressed public opinion accurately then, they have certainly been changed by CIO activity. Also in this indented story the CIO is attacking the daily free public press. In every newspaper office throughout the country, in reportorial, typographical, telegraphic and I think other positions. The union thus is attacking its own industry, its own job. The extent to which it goes in this respect you may see from its own magazine on page 11. A strong attack is carried there against a certain nationally known soup company, charging it with gambling with the nation's tomato crop. Then it adds: "The union has been trying to negotiate with --- soup company management since February xxx."

Indeed, the former Philadelphia publisher Mr. David Stern has testified the CIO local union in his extremely favorable shop chased him out of business.

Opinions expressed by the writer in the column are the views of the author and not necessarily those of the Circleville Herald.

LET'S EXPLORE OHIO State Parks

This summer, week after week, you and your whole family can have more fun by making greater use of Ohio's 40 splendid State Parks.

Covering more than 140,000 acres of forests, lakes, hills and ravines, they offer you a wide choice of natural surroundings, with fine fishing, swimming, camping and picnic facilities. So skillfully have the parks been located that there is at least one, and frequently several of different types, within an easy drive of every city and town in the state.

These parks belong to the people. They are in part under the management of the Ohio Division of Forestry and in part under the Division of Conservation and Natural Resources.

In addition, dedicated to your use, are the national parks and the new recreational areas centering about ten lakes and dams of the Muskingum Conservancy District.

Hundreds of thousands of Ohioans visit these State Parks each year but the grounds are so large that all find room for a Sunday picnic or a longer vacation right here at home.

Many of the parks have natural lakes or water-control dams and developments. Well-stocked with fish they have facilities for boating and water sports. In most of them there are camping sites open to family groups; in some there are cabins which may be rented at a moderate fee.

Arrangements for camping sites and cabins may be made through the Ohio Division of Forestry, Chillicothe, Ohio, or through the Lakes and Parks Section, Division of Conservation and Natural Resources, State Office Building, Columbus, Ohio.

There are trailer sites and tables, fire-places, drinking water and other facilities for those who like to eat in the out-doors, and

OVERDOING DANGEROUS NO MATTER how sound a principle may be, the overdoing of its application can be highly dangerous. This is especially true of the choice between two suits for trumps. In most cases, the one which shows the same number of cards in your hand and your partner's, or nearest to the same number, is preferable because the less-balanced suit then can furnish discards of losers because it is a side suit. But if that less-balanced suit has an unusually large number of cards between the members of your pair, there is a grave danger of one opponent being blank in it. Making that suit the trump may be wise to prevent its being ruffed by the defense.

West decided that he would reverse usual procedure with his opening lead because of the unusual nature of the situation disclosed by the bidding. At a low contract, when the declarer had bid two suits, it is often advisable to lead a trump in order to prevent him from ruffing out losers of his side suit with the dummy's trumps. This was patently futile, however, with his opponents showing such fine fits in both majors.

East's bidding had shown such a large number of cards in the two minors that West decided the declarer's side was likely to be devoid of losers in those suits. Hence the only apparent chance to beat the big contract was to find East totally void of hearts. He therefore led the heart 9 and set the contract at the outset by means of East's ruff.

North is the one who went wrong in the bidding, with his very last call. Having so many cards of his partner's two suits and knowing that South's hearts were longer than his spades because they were bid first, he should have placed the hand in 7-Hearts.

If East unsoundly returns his club 6 after winning the first trick with the diamond A, how should South plan his play at 4-Hearts?

just to get a fuller appreciation of the drama business!

Evelyn Knight, featured soprano on the Sunday Tony Martin Show, made her professional debut on a radio show emanating from Charleston, S. C., the engagement being first prize in an amateur singing contest she'd entered and won.

Paul Lavalie can keep a secret. The "Highways in Melody" maestro has been disappearing lately for hours at a time, refusing to divulge his destination. It now develops that Lavalie has taken up golf and sworn himself to secrecy until he broke 90. He made the all-important announcement to friends this week with a proud grin.

Since Guy Lombardo's Monday night broadcasts will run through the Summer, the band leader is working on a plan which will enable his musicians to have a month's vacation anyway. Guy is planning to transcribe his four August shows during the last week in July.

Maestro Percy Faith's parents, from Toronto to visit their famous son, have attended a total of 23 broadcasts in the last two weeks—but haven't yet taken in one of "Contented Hour" on which Percy stars. A week ago Monday, Mama Faith had a mild attack of the gripe and her husband refused to go without her. Last Monday, Papa Faith sprained his ankle mowing the lawn and his wife was equally loyal.

Hot west coast report is that the auto company which bought Meredith Willson to replace Dinah Shore, has also contracted for a full hour dramatic series from New York with stories to come from books, plays and films.

Evidently sponsors feel that mysteries and crime stories are just the thing to put chills into Summer weather. At any rate, two of the latest replacements to be signed are that type. They are "Call The Police," replacing "Amos 'n' Andy" starting June 3, and "Under Arrest" supplanting "The Shadow," June 8.

Conservation Department In Tribute To County Native

IRVIN PATRICK FEATURED IN SPECIAL STORY

Franklin Game Protector
Has Good Background For
Work In Ohio

Tribute to Irvin J. Patrick, former Pickaway county fish and game protector and now serving in that capacity in Franklin county, is paid in the June issue of the Ohio Conservation Bulletin, monthly periodical of the Ohio Division of Conservation and Natural Resources.

The article recites that "Pat's" three-year experience in Colorado as a U. S. government hunter in the service of the federal fish and wildlife service, and the stalking of game-and-cattle-killing bobcats, mountain lions, and coyote and a few bears, fitted him admirably for the job of Ohio fish and game protector.

PATRICK joined the Conservation Division field force as a game protector in the Buckeye Lake area and as a lake patrol officer in 1942. Since then he has served in several counties on special duty. He is now assigned to Franklin county although occasionally he spends some time on Buckeye Lake during holiday periods.

Serving a metropolitan area like Columbus means many long and tedious hours for a game protector and requires a tolerant attitude toward the public in general which calls for assistance in connection with many things other than law enforcement, but "Pat" considers it all "in a day's work."

PATRICK has received unusual publicity during the last two years in the outstanding number of arrests chalked up. But to "Pat" the credit does not always go to the arresting officer. He says it is the violators themselves who set the record and that the officer merely is performing his duty. He follows the theory that every man is innocent until proven guilty and that every violator looks alike.

Like most people, Patrick for a holiday hobby emulates the postman. He goes-crow shooting and fox hunting.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick and daughter, Carol Ann, 16, live just north of Reynoldsburg, east of Columbus. He was 34 on his last birthday. He is a native of Pickaway county.

Clarence Clark is chancellor commander of the lodge, and Fred A. Howell is master of work.

KILLED ON FARM

LANCASTER, O., June 3—Funeral services were scheduled for today for Lawrence D. Bauer, 74, Lancaster, who died of a broken neck.

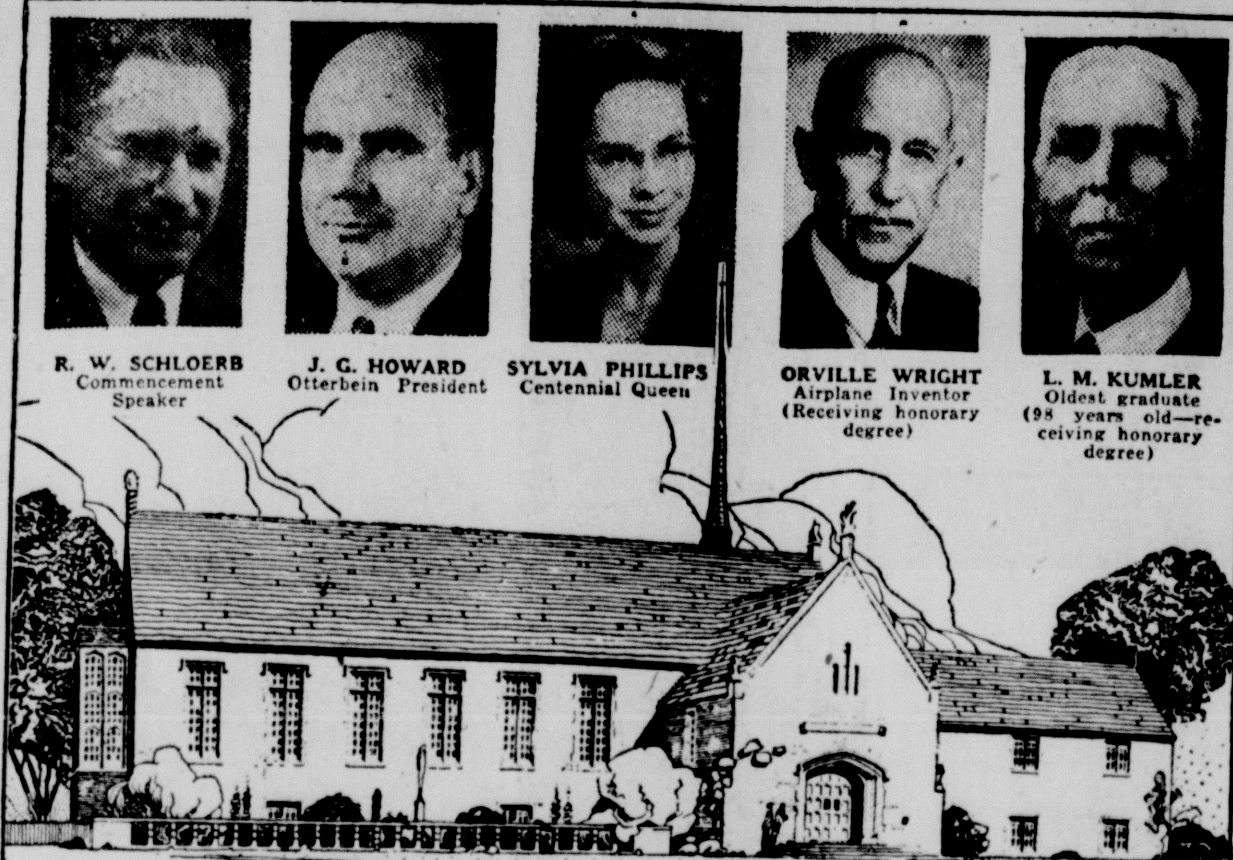

Fairfield County Coroner C. A. Barrow said Bauer was killed while helping plow a field on the farm of his son, Lawrence, four miles south of Lancaster. The coroner said Bauer was thrown forward when the tractor started suddenly.

In 1946 more persons were fingerprinted than during any year in the past decade. The FBI recorded 645,431 arrest records in that year.

USE OF GOLDEN RULE IS URGED

Kiwanis Speaker Insists
Remembering Customer
Is All Important

Use of the golden rule in business dealings was advocated by Oscar Fleckner, executive secretary of the Ohio Small Loan association, at the Kiwanis Club father-son banquet Monday evening in Hanley's.

Mr. Fleckner, talking on "Business Standards," told his listeners that the "customer is king. He is the 'old man' of business, the person who puts the food on the table, builds the homes and clothes the families of the merchants."

HE ADVOCATED following the old rule "the customer is always right." He said the customer is the only reason for business and urged merchants to seek the "confidence, faith and well being of customers."

The speaker suggested thinking of the future not in terms of hopelessness but looking forward to serving the public

Special College Event Will Begin On June 6

Hundreds of graduates from all over the world will return to the campus of Otterbein College this week for the celebration of the centennial of the Westerville institution.

The festivities begin on June 6 and will conclude on Monday, June 9, when President J. Gordon Howard will confer baccalaureate degrees upon 120 seniors. Eight distinguished citizens, including Orville Wright, famous inventor, will receive honorary degrees.

Another to receive an honorary degree will be the Rev. Luther M. Kumler, Norwalk, Ohio, who is the institution's oldest graduate, now in his ninety-eighth year.

Miss Sylvia Phillips, Frances-town, New Hampshire, fourth generation student, will be crowned the centennial queen.

Bishop A. R. Clippinger, Dayton, will be the baccalaureate

in an ethical manner.

Mr. Fleckner was introduced by Don Henkle, who was in charge of the father-son event. Most members had sons present, while others brought fathers. Besides the special guests, Dan McClain, Chillicothe Kiwanian, was present.

speaker, and the Rev. Rolland W. Schloerb, Chicago, will deliver the commencement address.

Dr. Wade S. Miller, director of the centennial program, announces that approximately $850,000 in new assets have been raised and will be used to erect a new library (pictured above), a new dormitory and a new memorial stadium.

Otterbein was the second college in America to admit women and is believed to be the first to have a woman on its faculty. As early as 1859 Otterbein admitted a Negro and the home of Dr. Lewis Davis, the first president, was a station on the underground railway.
